

County Budget: Low, Then High

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

The 1969 county budget is expected to be lower, but this breather for the taxpayers will only last until 1970 when projects already authorized will push the budget to a new high.

These conclusions were revealed in the Tax Base Study Committee's report to the County Legislature today in which it recommended that the Legislature go forward with plans to implement a county-wide sales and use tax, and authorizes the county attorney to prepare the necessary local law or resolution.

The committee report noted that the budget decrease for the next year was due to unexpended balances in some departments.

The sales tax, if enacted, would be collected in the same manner and on the same services and goods currently taxed by the state. The total sum is collected by the state and the county's share is returned to the county treasury.

After lengthy study the committee revealed that a 2 per cent sales and use tax would result in revenues to the county of between $4.5 to $5 million per year. This is a substantial sum when compared to the 1968 general levy of $7,685,000, all charged against real estate.

The increase in the 1970 county budget will result from the following authorizations:

Community College Phase II, $2,360,000; new infirmary authorized this year, $4,300,000; bridges and construction authorized this year, $2,750,000; renovation of the John Street property, $32,000; Perrines Bridge restoration, $25,000, and previous bond sales, principal and interest $405,000. These items are paid over a period of time as work has been completed.

The report also listed some of the contemplated projects to justify the need for a broader tax base.

These include tax mapping and reassessment, a new county jail to provide juvenile detention facilities as required by the state; a new county infirmary in order to meet state standards and because costs of rehabilitating the existing facilities would be prohibitive.

Continued growth and expansion of the community college is necessary in light of a projected enrollment of 2,500 students by 1974. The report noted that the youth of the county are its greatest asset and the committee believes that the young people are entitled to a high quality of education close to home.

A county airport is now in the planning stage. A facility of this nature will enable Ulster to attract new industry with its accompanying payrolls and needed tax dollars.

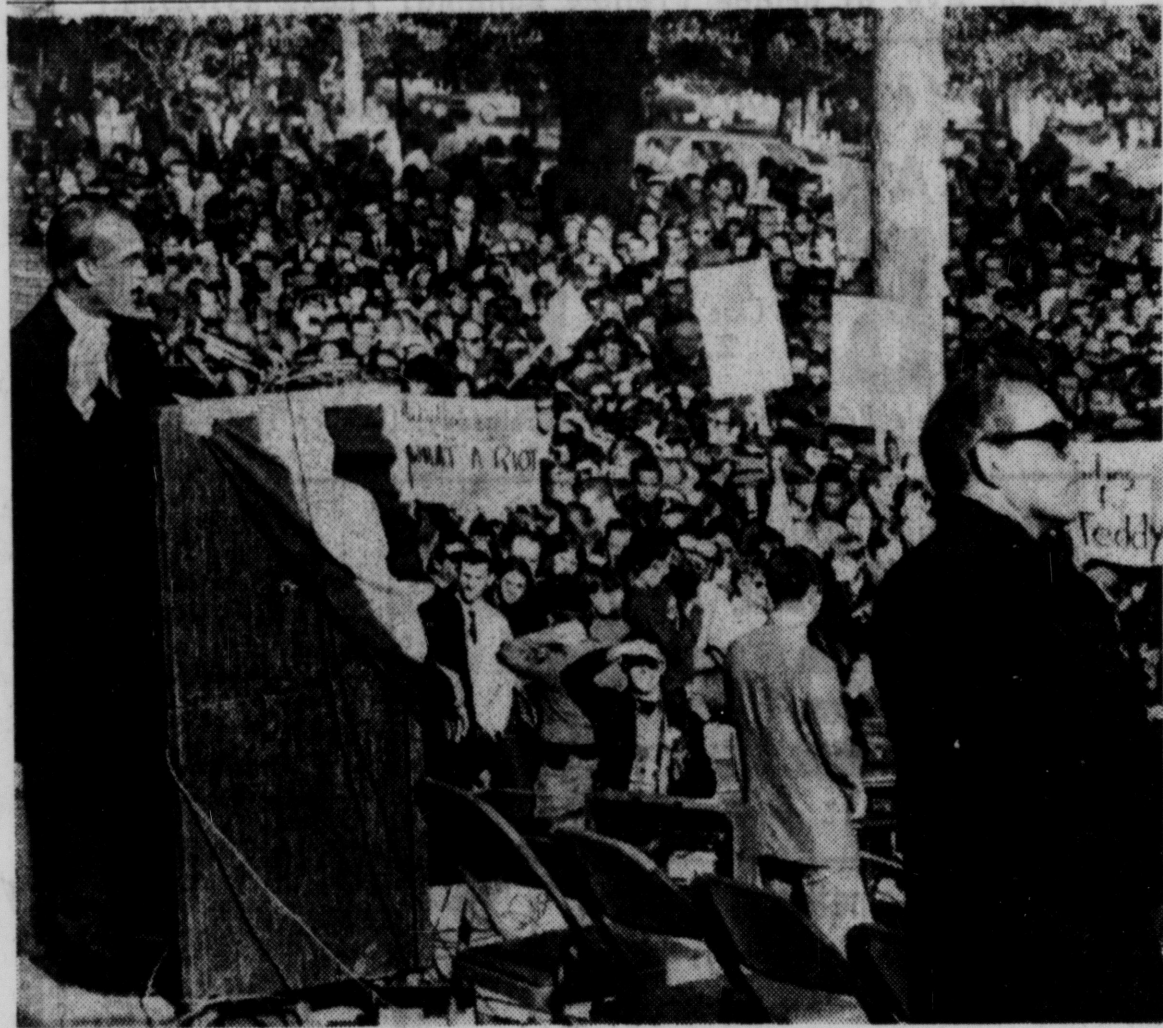

There will also be an increase in general operating costs due to anticipated increases in salaries, social security, retirement, social services, highway improvements and other essential services.

WALLACE AT ALBANY RALLY

George Socks 'Em, Gets Socked

By LYNN MULVANEY

ALBANY — "Sock it to 'em George!" his fans shouted.

And, that's exactly what George Corley Wallace did in Albany yesterday when he faced a crowd of 5,000 in front of Albany's Capitol steps.

Many Detractors

But his detractors were many and George, the third party presidential contender had it socked to him — mostly from a hard Left, for his revilers constantly jabbed away during the 33-minute speech with jeers and boos and screams of "Hell no we won't go" and "No, no, no."

Wallace, a seasoned fighter in the political ring, rolled with the punches and came up many times turning the heckling to his own advantage.

By standing back and allowing the deafening demonstration to continue, he in turn roused his own supporters to greater fervor than otherwise might be forthcoming.

Bullet-Proof Podium

"Come on you free speech folks," Wallace shouted from behind a bullet-proof podium, "listen and I'll convert you and maybe you'll get promoted to second grade."

Scanning the huge throng that stretched across the street and extended into Academy Park where anti-Wallace demonstrators, including U.S. senatorial candidate Paul O'Dwyer denounced Wallace supporters as "hatemongers," the former Alabama governor quipped, "Albany will never be the same will it?"

Unprintable

It was different anyway — with signs which read "Black Power," "Wallace Hates People," HHH not KKK and one held by a teenager which employed the use of a four-letter, unprintable word. Wallace told the young people there were some other four letter words they should know—like soap and work.

There were swastikas.

Only once did Wallace blow his cool — when he told a huge group of college students, "read back the Wallace campaign's a book on how to behave financially. During the warm-up period, prior to Wallace's appearance, a band belted out "Ode to Billy Joe" and "God Bless America"

To all this response from the love children, Wallace did his thing. He blew them kisses.

Humphrey Renews McCarthy Plea

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

NEW YORK (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey has made a new appeal for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's support, warning that otherwise the senator's "impossible dream" might "turn into a quite possible nightmare of George Corley Wallace or Richard Milhous Nixon."

Speaking to a dinner of New York's Liberal party, which is backing him for president, Humphrey said Wednesday night that the president to be chosen in less than four weeks "probably will not be" Wallace, but "could be" Nixon.

Impossible Dream

Then, using the words that became a keynote of McCarthy's unsuccessful quest for the Democratic presidential nomination, Humphrey said, "I myself have pursued the impossible dreams. I pursued them before and I'm possibly pursuing one again."

"But," he continued in evident reference to his fellow Minnesotan's continued refusal to support him, "I hope that last year's dreamers will take up today's realities, lest their impossible dreams turn into a quite possible nightmare of George Corley Wallace or Richard Milhous Nixon."

Just before the vice president arrived at the Americana, the 21 anti-Humphrey demonstrators were arrested and five injured, along with five policemen, when officers attempted to disperse a crowd of about 800 protesters.

Cop Hurt

One mounted patrolman was hospitalized in serious condition with a back injury after he reportedly was pulled from his horse to the pavement. Some demonstrators contended he fell off his horse.

Earlier, talking to reporters after a flight here from Boston, Humphrey said he still hopes McCarthy will support him, but "I'm not prone to meeting conditions." The senator said Tuesday night the Democratic party should take a stand for a coalition government for South Vietnam, for reform of the draft and restructuring of the party.

After a morning of closed meetings today, devoted to efforts to raise additional funds for his financially hard-pressed campaign, Humphrey rode down lower Broadway for a traditional ticker-tape greeting before speaking in the heart of New York's financial district.

Meanwhile, Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz told union members Wednesday that George C. Wallace plans to throw his electoral votes to one of the major party presidential candidates in return for "major concessions."

Wirtz, campaigning for Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey, told iron workers that Wallace had been "absolutely straightforward" about his plan, and called it the "most ominous" thing in the campaign.

Wirtz said the concessions Wallace planned to demand were listed in a Congressional Quarterly fact sheet on July 19. He said they included criminal indictment of people advocating a Viet Cong victory, elimination of the anti-poverty program, curtailment of foreign aid, abandonment of civil rights legislation, and states rights over integration in housing, schools and hospitals.

"I assume that neither Nixon nor the vice president would deal with him," Wirtz said.

All A-OK for Apollo 7 Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

— With green lights flashing for all aspects of the flight, the final countdown began today for Friday's scheduled launching of the three Apollo 7 astronauts on an 11-day space journey.

The 300-man launch crew started the critical final hours of the count by feeding electrical power to the 224-foot-tall Saturn 1B rocket.

Astros Relax

As the launch team prepared the rocket and Apollo 7 spacecraft, Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and civilian astronaut Walter Cunningham relaxed after a morning meeting in their quarters with key project officials.

The space trio is to ride the pulsating power of the Saturn 1B into orbit at 11 a.m. Friday on a critical mission that could put the United States back on course toward its goal of a manned lunar landing next year.

If Apollo 7 demonstrates that the spacecraft can function long enough for a half-million-mile round trip to the moon, the Apollo 8 crew may attempt to orbit the moon in December. The 363-foot-tall Saturn 5 rocket for that mission rolled to its launch pad Wednesday for about 40 days of prelaunch checks. The Apollo 8 commander will be Air Force Col. Frank Borman.

Watch Series Clash

Schirra, Cunningham and Eisele practiced Wednesday in a spacecraft simulator. Schirra sneaked away for an afternoon of dove hunting with friends, while Eisele and Cunningham rested in their quarters, reportedly reviewing the flight plan and keeping track of the World Series game on television.

Cunningham visited Wednesday night with his wife, Lo Ella, and two children, who flew here from their home in Houston, Tex., to watch the launching. The wives of the other two crewmen plan to view the blast-off on television at their Houston homes.

When the launch crew starts the final count, the clock will read 14 hours 15 minutes and counting. When it reaches 6 hours, there will be an automatic hold of six hours for any necessary catchup work and to allow the main force of the launch team to get some sleep.

'Cleanest' Yet

Paul Donnelly, launch operations manager for the Kennedy Space Center, reported Wednesday that preparations for Apollo 7 "are about the cleanest I've seen"—better than on any of the previous 16 U.S. man-in-space flights and the 16 unmanned flights that have been conducted with the Saturn 1B and Saturn 5 rockets.

Major milestones after the terminal countdown begins include serving the power-producing fuel cells with liquid hydrogen and liquid oxygen, checking the emergency detection system that would signal if anything were wrong, pumping 86,900 gallons of liquid oxygen and 64,000 gallons of liquid hydrogen into the rocket, and thoroughly checking spacecraft systems. Earlier, 42,100 gallons of "erosene" were funneled into the Saturn 1B.

During the night, the backup crew—Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Cmdrs. Eugene A. Cernan and John W. Young—will make sure all in the Apollo 7 cabin is in working order.

Schirra, Eisele and Cunningham will be awakened in their ready room quarters at the Kennedy Space Center about 6 a.m. for breakfast and a preflight medical exam. When the count reaches 2 hours 25 minutes, they are to enter the spacecraft to make final checks before launch.

Woodstock Confrontation

Area Candidates Heat It

By HUGH REYNOLDS

The candidates took their traveling show to the Woodstock Playhouse last night and presented their views both (often heated) on issues and on each other.

This sixth confrontation was sponsored by the Woodstock Jaycees and featured three of four congressional candidates, all three assembly candidates and two hopefuls for the State Supreme Court.

Unscheduled Visitation

The judicial candidates made an unscheduled appearance but both Abraham Streifer of Kingston and Milton Levine of Sullivan County were given ample time to plead their candidacies.

Streifer spoke first and presented what is for him his campaign theme—Ulster desperately needs a resident Supreme Court Judge and he is the man since he's "Well qualified" and has the endorsement of both parties.

Levine, who like Streifer, is a Democrat, agreed with the Kingston attorney, but added that Ulster would need Sullivan's help to elect a judge.

Congressional candidates included Hamilton Fish Jr., the Republican, John S. Dyson, the Democrat and Peter K. Dufault, the Liberal. G. Gordon Liddy, the Conservative is on the ballot but is not campaigning.

Assembly hopefuls were H. Clark Bell, Republican; Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, Democrat and George Majestic, Liberal.

Fish Tardy

Hamilton Fish arrived an hour late but quickly went into an attack on the current administration and his opponent, Dyson. Said Fish, "The Lyndon Johnson-Hubert Humphrey administration is on trial for a record of failure."

He added, "This is the Johnson legacy to you for voting Democratic. The Humphrey-Dyson ticket will give no change."

Dyson opened by noting that Gov. Rockefeller had recently called for a 20 per cent tax hike. Noting that Rockefeller had endorsed Fish, he asked how Fish felt about the tax hike.

Dyson then said that he was running to represent the "young people." "We can have a better America," he said.

Responded Fish, "I don't think it is the role of youth to come up with the answers. That is the responsibility of my generation."

Crocodile and Shark

Dufault, speaking of his two opponents, said "I feel like a man attacked by a crocodile in deep water and being rescued by a shark."

Gorman spoke at some length about the high percentage of lawyers in the assembly of which he said is supposed to be broadly representative of all the people and said there should be a doctor, like himself, serving in that body.

Bell said it was not a question of his or Gorman's profession (Bell is a lawyer) but a matter of qualifications for office.

Majestic for Economy

Majestic generally attacked his two opponents and called for an end to rising taxes by practicing economy in government.

Dufault received the largest ovation from the audience which he described as "left of center" when he said, "I don't want to hear a candidate say we withdrew from Vietnam because it didn't work. I want to hear him say we withdrew because it was an exercise in criminal folly."

Beer on Campus At Paltz Looms

By CHARLES BERMPOHL

Officials at the New Paltz State University College will apply shortly to the New York State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board for a license which would permit the tightly-controlled sale of beer to students.

The beer will go on sale in the evenings at the College Union snack bar.

The application will be submitted to the ABC in behalf of the Faculty-Student Association which operates the food service on campus.

Appropriate beverages for special occasions would also be served in the faculty dining room and in the College Union dining hall and lounge.

College President John J. Neumaier said that the state already has licensed state university campuses at Brockport, Binghamton, Albany, Buffalo and Stony Brook to sell alcoholic beverages, and colleges at Plattsburgh and Potsdam are awaiting approval in similar applications.

Several other State University of New York colleges have been granted permission to serve liquor as part of the routine practice of hosts upon special occasions.

The Student Government Association, which has worked toward an alcohol policy over the past year, said that it would undertake an extensive and continuing program for all students to assure that the rights and privileges of non-drinkers would be assured and respected.

Student leaders said the program would emphasize the need for socially acceptable behavior and would encourage responsible membership in the academic community.

As part of the control on the sale of beer, a student committee has suggested a plan which would require students to turn in their college identification to a checker at the time of a purchase of a glass of beer.

Each student, under the plan, would be required to return his glass for a refill an his card would be returned when he left the snack bar. The ID card shows the age of the holder and the student's picture.

The checking system would not only prevent non-students from buying beer but would also aid in reducing the possibility that a student might buy for persons under 18 years old. Bona fide guests of students would be required to present proof of age, the student committee said.

Under the proposed plan, beer would be on sale from 7 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. Sunday through Friday and from 2 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. on Saturdays.

The College Council, composed of civic leaders in eastern New York, has approved the student suggestions.

Esopus Talks About Budget

The $141,969 preliminary budget for 1969, reflecting an increase of about $19,000 was reviewed by Esopus Town Board at its meeting Wednesday night at the Town Hall, Port Ewen.

Supervisor George H. Freer said the public hearing on the budget would be held Nov. 6 at 7:30 p. m. at the town hall. He noted that the increase can be attributed to increases in hourly wages of the highway department workers and other fringe benefits including health insurance and social security; $5,000 for sanitary landfill and $4,250 for professional planners working with the Town Planning Board.

The Esopus supervisor said negotiation for the landfill site was in progress and will be announced when the deal is consummated. He said the site is far removed from any habitation and has gravel facilities.

The Town Board empowered Supervisor Freer to sign a lease with the Town of Esopus Sportsmen's Club for the former West Park schoolhouse to be used for meetings and other civic purposes.

The Town Board has under consideration the demolition of a burned out building on First Street, Sleightsburg on a request from Building Inspector DeVal Dunbar, who termed the building a hazard. The Town

Friday Hearing Set for Women On Drug Charges

A preliminary hearing has been scheduled before Saugerties Town Justice Michael Catalinotto for 2 p. m., Friday, in the case of two New York City women arrested Sept. 1, charged with the sale of a dangerous drug.

The defendants are Sharon Ann Walley, 22, and Joanne Sadlier, 20, both of 214 East 25th Street, New York City. The latter formerly resided in Poughkeepsie.

The hearing had been postponed several times pending a laboratory report of a packaged type of LSD, known as brown spot which sold at $5 a spot. A quantity of the material was seized with the arrest of the two women, authorities reported.

County Investigator Thomas Mayone attached to the office of District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca, and State Police BCI Investigators Joseph Ventriglia and W. E. Wiedemann arrested the defendants in the course of an undercover investigation conducted of activities at a Soudin on the Glasco Turnpike near Shultis Corners.

The two women, presently at liberty in bail of $100 each, are specifically charged with criminally possessing a dangerous drug, a felony.

Nixon Views the Soviet Union As Key to Ending War in Viet MOLINE, Ill. (UPI)—Richard M. Nixon believes Moscow holds the key to successful negotiations to end the Vietnam War.

According to sources close to the Republican presidential candidate, a series of diplomatic moves involving the Soviets would play an important part in Nixon's efforts to end the war if he is elected.

Nixon has been reticent about what he would do specifically to "bring the war to an honorable conclusion" as he has repeatedly promised in his campaign speeches. But he has strongly hinted he would increase military pressure in Vietnam to force Hanoi into meaningful talks.

Coupled with this would be a concerted effort to bring Moscow into the conversations in the role of a peacemaker.

To accomplish this, he would use the whole spectrum of diplomatic weapons, the sources said, taking advantage of the Soviets' feud with Red China, its desire for trade with the West and its vulnerability in some areas of Europe and the Middle East.

The reason he has been vague about what he would do in Vietnam, he says, is because he doesn't want to compromise the negotiations in Paris by making Hanoi think it could get a better deal from him than from the current administration.

The GOP campaign moved back into Illinois today, one of the key states now the targets for Nixon's main efforts. He lost it—some say it was stolen—by 9,000 votes in 1960.

He criticized the Democrats on his arrival in Moline for condoning a prison system in which "six out of every 10 men discharged... return within five years."

This "institution of lower learning" must be remedied, he said. "The federal government should take the lead by reforming the federal penitentiaries, and providing separate facilities for treating the violent, aggressive or disturbed offenders."

In California—another of the big seven along with New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and Texas—he toured Los Angeles suburbs Wednesday, criticizing Hubert Humphrey and the Democrats for what he called a foolhardy foreign policy and irresponsible domestic programs he says are creating ruinous inflation and "reaping a harvest of fear, frustration and violence."

The Senate Bracing For 'Equal' Session

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate braced today for a three major presidential candidates without including lesser party candidates.

Senate Republicans vowed to compel "extended debate" on the bill, which would suspend federal "equal time" regulations so networks could offer free time for debates among the three major presidential candidates without including lesser party candidates.

Sen. John Pastore, D-R.I., said it was "quite apparent to me that the Republicans don't want this bill and the reason is that Nixon doesn't want it."

This was the same line House Democrats took in attempting to break a Republican procedural filibuster on the bill.

They charged Richard M. Nixon, the GOP presidential candidate, had put House Republicans up to their stalling tactics because as the frontrunner he stood to lose rather than gain from a face to face encounter with Democratic candidate Hubert H. Humphrey.

The Senate has already passed a version of the bill that would clear the way for Nixon-Humphrey debates. However, the House version under consideration in the Senate today, goes farther, specifying George C. Wallace must be included.

Le May Going to Viet Zone

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Retired Air Force Gen. Curtis E. LeMay is going to Vietnam to take a first hand look at the war for presidential candidate George C. Wallace, The Associated Press has learned.

Tentative plans call for Wallace's running mate to make a four-day trip to Vietnam about Oct. 15, reporting back in time for an Oct. 20 nationwide television address by the former Alabama governor.

Sources close to Wallace said he planned to announce the trip at a speech today at Vandenberg County Courthouse here.

Aides said LeMay, campaigning in Florida, would have no comment. The U.S. embassy in Saigon said it was unaware of any plans for a LeMay visit.

The trip by LeMay, former Air Force chief of staff and head of the Strategic Air Command, recalls the trip to Korea by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952.

The difference is, however, that Eisenhower, a five-star general who led allied forces to victory in Europe in World War II, pledged to go if elected and then made the trip before taking office.

Wallace has pledged to end

Negotiating To Provide Jets For Israel

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The administration has opened negotiations to provide Israel with supersonic jets to meet attacks from her neighboring Arab states.

President Johnson, after a long delay, announced the decision Wednesday.

Both Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Richard M. Nixon his GOP opponent for the presidency, are on record favoring the sale of 50 Phantom F4 jet fighter-bombers to Israel.

Johnson's statement was viewed as a major breakthrough for Israel.

the Vietnam war with conventional weapons if the Paris peace talks fail and LeMay has said he agrees.

LeMay, who will be accompanied by three Alabama aides of Wallace, has been a hardliner on Vietnam all along.

When he was picked a week ago to take second place on the Wallace ticket, he revived the dormant issue of nuclear weapons by saying "there are many occasions when it would be most efficient to" use them.

He added at the time that he didn't think it was necessary to use them in Vietnam.

In an AP interview just before leaving for his Florida campaign swing, LeMay said no situation exists in Vietnam or any place else now where nuclear weapons would be appropriate. But he added that "there is some place where you're going to use nuclear weapons. Where it is I don't know."

In the same interview he asked what he thought the risks of a full blown military effort in Vietnam.

He answered:

"I think there's a risk. There's a risk in everything. We live in a risky world... There is some risk to living. Presumably we looked at the risks when we went in there. So there is some risk—that Red China might come in, maybe the Russians even might come in. Well, we'd just take a look at it. How much risk is there? China? They've got plenty of problems of their own over there right now. They haven't got any weapons capabilities to do us any damage anyway, at least not now. Later on maybe yes. But not now they haven't. So unless we put a big army on the mainland so they could get at it, they can't hurt us. I think we're foolish to put a big army there. Every soldier has recommended against that as long as I can remember."

Earlier, in Scranton, Pa., he told 5,000 at a mid-morning rally in the courthouse square: "They (the polling organizations) had better remember the Literary Digest. The biggest poll is going to be in November."

The Literary Digest was a magazine that went out of business after its poll predicted Alfred M. Landon would win over Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1936.

The State of New York National Bank

MEMBER FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION

DEMOCRATIC COORDINATORS — Sheriff William B. Martin, (C), in his bid for reelection, today announced the appointment of campaign coordinators for Ulster County and the City of Kingston. Heading the county organization will be minority leader of the county legislature, Roger Mabie, (L). Leading the city campaign will be William Edelmuth, (R), three-term former mayor of Kingston and a present member of the county legislature. Mabie said that Sheriff Martin had done an "incredibly outstanding job" in his first term and has brought about many overdue changes in a highly effective law enforcement agency. Edelmuth cited Martin's 32 years of experience, which have given Ulster a sheriff's department that is among the best in the entire state.

State AFL-CIO Supports Dyson

Democratic Congressional candidate John Dyson today received the endorsement of the New York State AFL-CIO, which represents over two million working men and women throughout the state. The support comes on top of recent endorsements from key officials and locals in the 28th District.

Dyson commented from his Millbrook headquarters: "I appreciate the endorsement; it is recognition of the strong positions I have taken in support of the working man in the 28th District, and my special concern for our much neglected civil servants. Lawrence Periera, chairman of the Labor for Dyson Committee, noted that the AFL-CIO action favoring Dyson is "another indication of the support Dyson is receiving. These men know that John Dyson supports labor. I hope that every working man and woman in the district will take note of this endorsement and join the bandwagon of the man who has their best interests at heart."

Fish Names Dutchess Resident

Herbert Gindele, former Town of Hyde Park Republican chairman and a key 1966 advisor to Hamilton Fish Jr., was today named a special assistant for public relations by the Republican congressional candidate.

In making the appointment, Fish said, "Gindele brings to the campaign all the ingredients mandatory for a big win in November. He played a vital role two years ago, and with his political experience will again make a significant contribution." Gindele told newsmen yesterday, "My decision to join Fish's team is based on my desire to see good government in Washington. Fish is the type of man we need in Congress."

Dutchess Man Cited After Lloyd Crash

A Dutchess county man was cited by Highland State Police Tuesday afternoon after his car was involved in a traffic accident on Route 9W at the intersection of Route 44-55 in the Town of Lloyd, according to Highland State Police.

Sergeant D. R. Baker said Michael Dutko, 40, of Wayne, N.J., was stopped in his car at the intersection, when a vehicle driven by Harold Braxton, 39, of Millbrook, overshot the road as he was backing and the car hit the Dutko sedan.

Dutko was taken to Vassar Hospital after he complained of possible head injuries. Braxton was summoned for operating a car with insufficient lights.

Security Guard Faces Charge Of Assault

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — A security guard Wednesday was charged with first degree assault after he allegedly shot and wounded a neighbor who told him not to point his gun at passing children.

Police said Wilmer Johnson, 66, a security guard with the W.I.S.E. Security Co. fired three shots at his 24-year old neighbor, Joseph Kemp of Buffalo. Officials said that Kemp had told him not to aim the revolver at youngsters walking by his home on their way to school.

Kemp was listed in fair condition at Emergency Hospital. Johnson lives at 263 E. North St. Kemp's address was listed as 265 E. North St.

Mayone in Rap at Martin For His Stand on Narcotics

Area

Political News

Republican sheriff candidate Thomas Mayone has accused his opponent of taking an ostrich-like stand on narcotics this past week. Mayone made the charge in a speech before the Town of Hurley Republican Club.

Cop, 4 Others Are Charged With Gambling

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (UPI) — A policeman and four other men were arrested Wednesday on charges resulting from a five-month grand jury investigation of alleged gambling in Schenectady county.

Philip R. DiCaprio, 44, a Schenectady city patrolman, was charged with first degree perjury. Charged with criminal contempt were Chester D. Kotarski, 54, Floyd J. Desimony, 64, and Joseph J. Torre, 55, all of Schenectady, and Eugene D'Attilio, 44, of suburban Rotterdam.

The five and two others arrested earlier pleaded innocent before State Supreme Court Justice Robert G. Main and their cases were set for Nov. 6. DiCaprio was freed in $1,000 bail and the others in $500 bail each. Those arrested previously on contempt charges were Frank DeLorenzo, 47, and Louis C. Cordi, 46, both of Schenectady. The grand jury returned sealed indictments Oct. 1.

Noting that Sheriff William Martin had said there was no narcotics problem in the county, Mayone pointed out that more than 100 arrests have been made on narcotics charges in the last year. Some of the cases even involve high school students, said Mayone.

No Trained Deputy — "The present sheriff's department doesn't even have one deputy trained in narcotics investigation," Mayone continued. "The problem will not disappear if we stick our heads in the sand as the sheriff is apparently willing to do."

"While my opponent is apparently willing to ignore the narcotics problem in Ulster County, some people in the county are alarmed enough to ask for their village government to appoint detectives to help fight the problem," Mayone said, referring to the recent request in Ellenville.

An education program is also vital in the fight against drug abuse, Mayone suggested. We should inform our youth of the dangers involved and alert parents to the signs of illicit narcotics use. Workshops for school teachers and administrators should also be set up in order to attack the problem on all fronts.

10-Point Program — In announcing the second of his ten point program, Mayone said that as sheriff he would immediately activate a training program for deputies and an educational program in co-operation with local school and parents groups. "It is essential that we meet this grave threat to our youths head on and do so immediately," Mayone concluded. Over the past few years, the Republican candidate has given talks to various civic, religious and parent groups throughout the county in an attempt to alert the public to the tragedy threatening the youth of the county.

Envoy Found Dead — OTTAWA (AP) — Israel's ambassador to Canada, Arieh Eshel, was found dead in a parking lot Wednesday night and an Embassy spokesman said today he "apparently had a heart attack."

Eshel, 56, a career diplomat, had attended a reception at the German Embassy earlier in the evening and it is believed he collapsed while going to get his car to drive home.

Dem Dinner-Dance Sunday at Fallsview

Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, Democratic county chairman and candidate for the Assembly, announced today that the annual dinner-dance of the Democratic Party will be held this Sunday at the Fallsview Hotel in Ellenville. The dinner-dance is the annual Democratic fund-raising affair and is being co-chaired by James McCordle, state committeeman; Dr. Freda Martens, state committeewoman, and Rose Hogan, vice chairman of the Democratic Party. The dinner this year will feature a cocktail party and hors d'oeuvres from 5 to 6, a roast prime ribs of beef dinner and a New York floor show, all of which is included in the cost of the ticket. The public is invited and tickets will be available at the door. The guest speaker will be announced shortly.

Bell Picks Three City Residents To Plan Campaign for Assembly

Joseph D. Saccoman, Edward "Ted" Feeney and William Merrill have accepted appointment as Kingston city coordinators for H. Clark Bell in his campaign for the office of Mayor John J. Schwenk who is overall city coordinator for Bell and John Ray Mayone, city chairman.

WILLIAM MERRILL

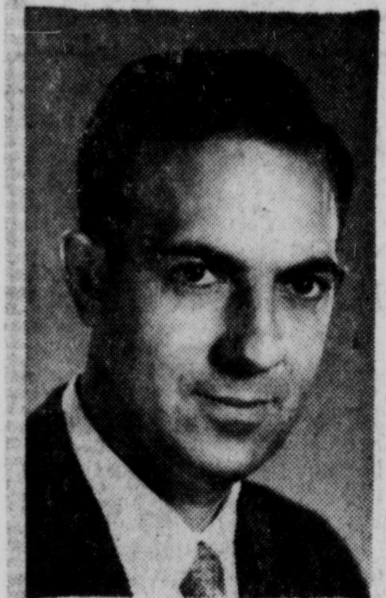

EDWARD "TED" FEENEY

Saccoman, a practicing attorney and former Kingston City Court Judge will head up the Bell team in new Wards 1, 2, 3 and 11.

Feeney, former administrative assistant to Schwenk will lead the Bell efforts in new Wards 4, 5 and 6.

Merrill, an executive with the J. Richard Miller Co., has accepted the responsibility for bringing out the vote in new Wards 7, 8, 9, 10, 12 and 13. Bell said he was pleased to see the campaign machinery working so smoothly and hoped it would produce impressive victories for all GOP candidates in the City of Kingston on Nov. 6.

Leadership Is Needed Says Woolley

"There is an urgent need for leadership in our State Legislature, the Senate in particular," Democratic candidate A. E. Woolley said in a Hyde Park talk recently.

"We need people who are sensitive to the problems of our cities as well as the people who inhabit the cities and rural areas. We must have leadership that plans ahead, that is involved, that is willing to make mistakes while seeking solutions, and that is in contact with people. Such leadership does not exist in the incumbent State Senator," Woolley continued.

"He has been more concerned with his role in party politics. Evidence of this is clearly seen in his failure to separate himself from his role as chairman of the Dutchess County Republican organization. He was elected to serve all of the people in Ulster and Dutchess counties. Yet, he remained chairman 15 months after he assumed elective office."

False Report Charged to Man

Bernard F. Meier, 41, who gave his address to police as 240 Albany Avenue, was arrested Wednesday on a charge of making a false report to authorities. City Judge Hubert A. Richter committed him to the county jail in lieu of $500 bail and adjourned the case until Friday, Oct. 11.

Meier was booked by Kingston police Tuesday afternoon on two warrants accusing him of issuing fraudulent checks. The arrest was made when the defendant went to police headquarters and reported someone stole his 1961 car sometime Sunday while it was parked in the Kingston Hospital lot.

The false report charge was based on Meier's report to police that his car had been taken.

Dufault Offers Fish His Personal Service

Peter Kane Dufault, Liberal Party candidate for Congress, offered recently to "rescue" GOP congressional candidate Hamilton Fish from the ineptitude of his staff.

While speaking at a debate in Cobleskill, Schoharie County, Dufault said, "It troubles me that the arrangements for this debate seem to have taxed the organizational genius of the Republican Party somewhat beyond its strength."

"Until about 8 p. m., no one knew where this debate was to be held. Of course, this may represent a basic disinclination in Fish to debate at all, since the next best thing to no debate is a debate which nobody attends, due to insufficient warning."

"But I would be loath," Dufault said, "to ascribe such shabby motives to Fish, and think instead that I ought to do something to rescue him from the ineptitude of his staff. So I respectfully offer both my opponents my services and those of the Liberal Party in arranging the debate on Vietnam currently scheduled for sometime and somewhere in Poughkeepsie on Oct. 21."

In a press release issued today, Dufault condemned the Selective Service system as "a blight upon American democracy."

"The peacetime draft," he noted, "has been perpetuated in the Congress over the protests of only a handful of courageous congressmen. These few have seen that peace-time conscription is contrary to American democratic principles and is unique in our history. "John Dyson, my Democratic opponent, has proposed tinkering with the draft to make it somewhat more democratic. Democratizing an undemocratic system doesn't make much sense to me. I propose that we abolish the draft and substitute a volunteer army, reasonably well-paid and professional. And small."

Facts for Voters Pamphlet Ready

The 1968 copy of "Facts for Voters" published by the League of Women Voters is now available and currently being distributed by the Kingston League free of charge. The pamphlet contains much valuable information that no voter should be without the league contends. In addition to a general description of the various national offices to be filled, this year's "Facts for Voters" contains a specially prepared section on the New York State Senatorial race. The three candidates for this seat, Jacob Javits, Paul O'Dwyer, and James Buckley responded to League questions on Vietnam, urban problems, and the federal budget. The pamphlet also contains information of the electoral college, which may play an important part in this year's election.

The public is urged to pick up a copy of Facts for Voters now available in the county office building, the library, hospitals and most banks. Any organization wishing to obtain additional copies for distribution to their members can do so by contacting Mrs. Bernard Pauker, Washington Ave.,

Brawl Over Flag

HONG KONG (AP)—Pro-Nationalist and pro-Communist Chinese shipyard workers fought with chairs, iron bars, and tools today in a brawl over the raising of a Nationalist Chinese flag.

Police said six were hospitalized and four leftists arrested.

The fight started when a group of Nationalist supporters started to raise the flag at a shipyard union building and a group of pro-Communists tried to stop them.

NEWCOMBE TO HELP — Former State Senator Lloyd A. Newcombe has agreed to act as personal representative for GOP congressional candidate Hamilton Fish Jr. in Ulster and Greene counties. Newcombe will attend meetings that Fish is unable to be at due to conflicts in scheduling.

Hire the Handicapped

Along with Fire Prevention Week and National Newspaper Week, we are now observing another very special one that is of great importance to a small and courageous group of our fellow citizens. It is "Hire the Handicapped Week."

Gateway Industries on Field Court is working on the rehabilitation of 100 Ulster County residents, who have physical, mental or social problems. The training program at Gateway is designed to prepare the worker for competitive jobs in businesses willing to hire them.

Nationwide studies have shown that rehabilitated workers are very valuable members of the labor force of this country. Experience has shown that with one strike against them at the start, they are better than average to produce superb work. The handicapped worker has a strong desire to produce the very best possible work.

Every effort should be made by local employers wherever possible to hire the handicapped worker with special training for the job. Both the worker and the business will benefit.

Gateway is one of the 14 participating agencies in the Ulster County Community Chest, which currently is conducting a financial drive for $345,000.

William F. Edelmuth, president of Gateway Industries, says that through donations to the Community Chest and by the respect shown for the workers' abilities, Gateway will strive to give the dignity and independence of a productive job to every employable handicapped person in our community.

Who Is Switching

Registration figures show such a predominance of Democrats across the country that Richard M. Nixon's only chance of election is for those who vote traditionally Democratic in Presidential elections to switch to him along with those independents who sometimes tip the balance.

A recent Gallup poll showed that, test them as you wish, all groups were switching except only Jews, Roman Catholics and Negroes. They are not enough to elect Hubert H. Humphrey.

Perhaps the most surprising switch is among residents of cities of a million or more inhabitants. Heretofore, impregnable Democratic strongholds—the metropolitan centers—run two to one for Nixon over Humphrey, and better than three to one against Wallace. In fact, there is no population sized group in which Nixon did not run well ahead of the other two.

Humphrey and Wallace did better among the young in age, but here again Nixon led by 39 to Humphrey's 30 and Wallace's 25 per cent. In the middle and over 50 groups, Nixon again took big leads of three to two and nine to four respectively.

Among business, professional and clerical and sales people, Nixon ran two to one and ten to three. Only among manual workers was he but one point ahead of Humphrey and seven to five ahead of Wallace.

Religious affiliations showed the first break. Nixon is nearly two to one ahead of Humphrey and better than two to one ahead of Wallace with Protestants. With Catholics, Humphrey is ahead of Nixon ten seven and ahead of Wallace five to two. With Jews, Humphrey makes his best showing religion-wise, 51 to Nixon's 31 and Wallace's 4 per cent.

But it is among non-whites that Humphrey soars. He polled 80 per cent to Nixon's 12 per cent and zero for Wallace.

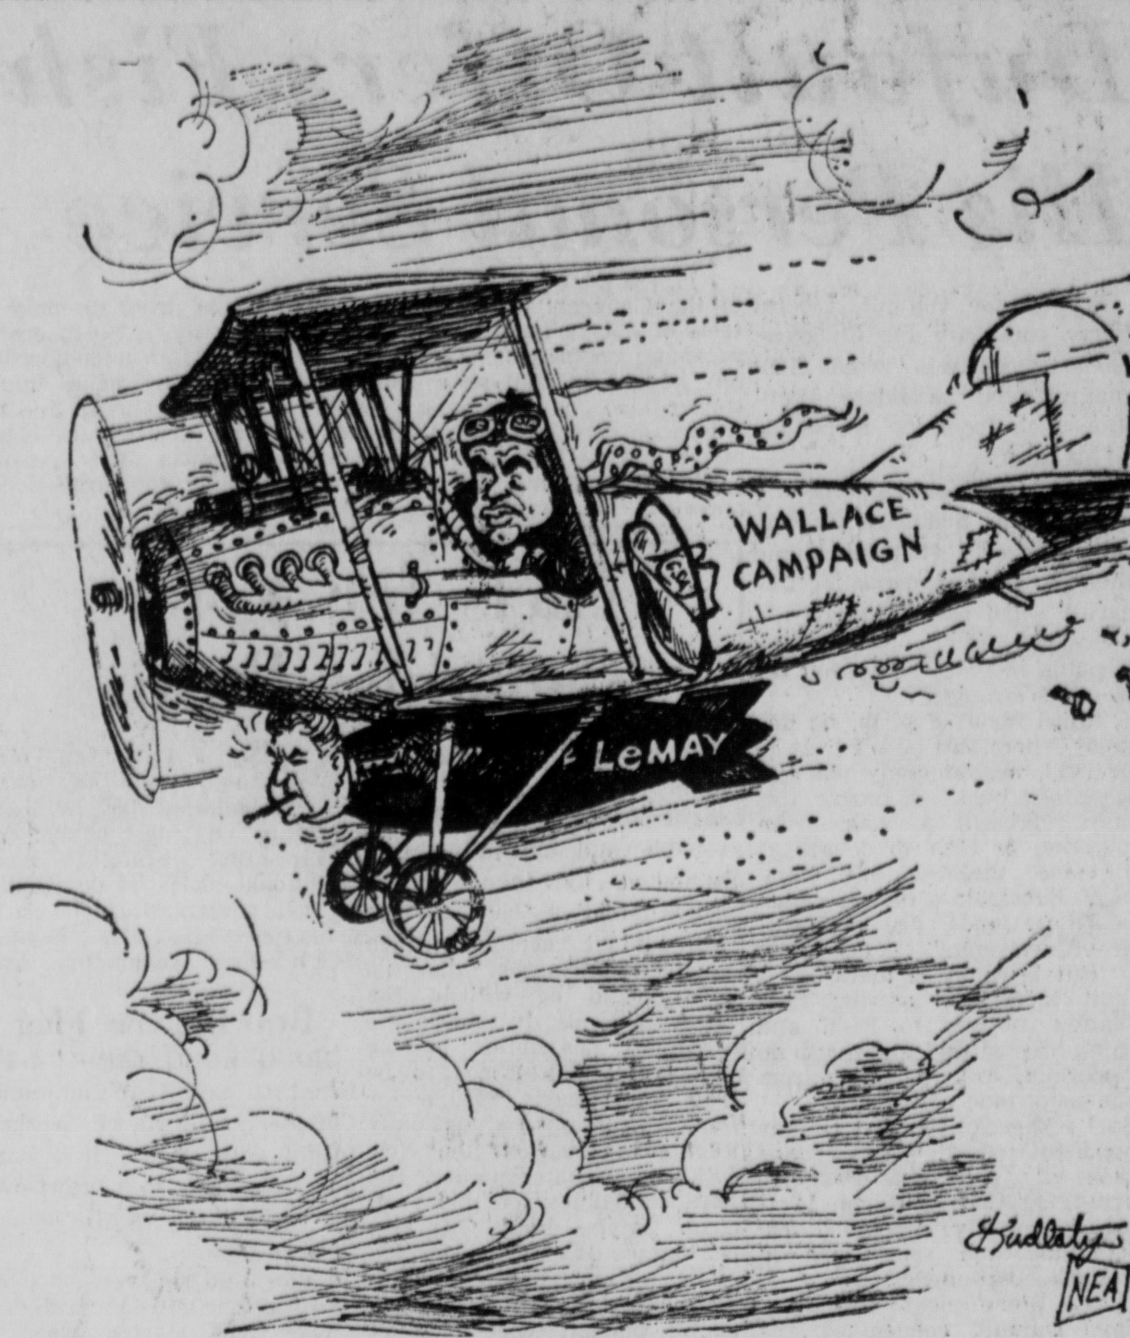

The coalition that Franklin D. Roosevelt put together and that stood through seven of the last nine elections—pierced before only by Dwight D. Eisenhower—seems about to be shattered.

"I'm getting tired of listening to politicians explain what they mean by explanations of controversial statements!"

The Bomb

David Lawrence Says

How to Retain Democratic Voters Is HHH Problem

WASHINGTON.—Can Humphrey close the gap between himself and Nixon? It seems clear that the Democratic nominee can build up his strength in the remaining weeks of the campaign only by winning back many of the Democrats who have decided either to vote for Wallace or Nixon or else not to go to the polls.

While the Democratic Party got a massive majority in the presidential race of 1964, it was because a large bloc of Republicans voted for Johnson, and he attracted the independent vote, too. Now, however, all this appears to have crumbled.

Most of the Republican vote which went to the Democratic nominee in 1964 has since turned back to Nixon. It may be inferred that the regular Republicans, plus the independents and dissident Democrats, are sufficient in number today to give Nixon a big edge in the popular as well as the electoral vote. There are, to be sure, plenty of people who have not finally made up their minds and will come to a decision in the next four weeks.

On the surface, it might seem that voters are merely choosing between three personalities—Humphrey, Nixon and Wallace. The speeches made by each are, of course, given wide attention, but this could be one of those years in which it doesn't make much difference what the candidates have said. Demand for a change could supersede all else.

Humphrey is a part of the Johnson administration and, therefore, inherits blame for many of the grievances of the voters. The vice president has been urged to disassociate himself from the administration, but he cannot do this without alienating a lot of Democrats who are loyal to the party and who would stay home on Election Day if he engaged in such a course.

The truth is that, no matter who might have been chosen as the Democratic nominee, he would nevertheless be up against the problem of how to retain Democratic voters and at the same time convey the idea that his administration would make a fundamental change in public policies, domestic and international.

The polls thus far have shown Nixon way ahead, but it sometimes happens that in the last four weeks of a campaign the candidate who seemingly is losing can gain ground. This time, however, there is not very much that can be done to change the public opinion that has been generated throughout the country, especially in the big cities of the north, on the subject of civil disorders, racial friction, crime, and the ill effects of enforced integration. In recent days, New York City, for example, has revealed to the country that the racial controversy isn't confined to the south and that militant leaders have not helped to solve the problems of integration by their attacks on "gradualism."

If Nixon is elected president, it is hardly likely that he will have quick answers to all these questions. But the people will expect a re-examination of such issues as busing children to schools and the withholding of federal funds from districts which have been trying to "desegregate" without upsetting school systems and losing good teachers.

The most puzzling aspect of the whole campaign today is the effect that the race by Nixon, Humphrey and Wallace is going to have on the election of members of the House and Senate. Normally, a presidential nominee who wins by a substantial majority carries along candidates for Congress from his own party on what is called the "coat-tail" vote. Since the Wallace ticket doesn't have a separate list of congressional candidates, the voters will have to pick between the two major parties.

Certainly many Democratic nominees for Congress are worried. Some of them are not espousing the Humphrey cause too enthusiastically, and others are trying to curry favor with voters in both parties by omitting references to the presidential nominees. The outcome will depend largely on the extent of the opposition to the incumbent administration. A Nixon victory by reason of an adverse vote on the Johnson record could mean that the Republicans will make substantial gains and may even get control of both houses of Congress.

Wallace Tough Talk Woos Protesters Against Protest

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA)—

Again and again as he travels the northern campaign circuit,

third party presidential candidate

George C. Wallace asks his noisy, often big crowds:

"What's wrong with telling the people what they want to hear?"

The approving roar from his partisans gives the answer:

Nothing at all.

And, to judge from the responses of the astonishingly numerous and energetic pro-

Wallace citizens who turn up at his rallies, what these particular people want to hear is tough talk—filled with strong action verbs—against

revolutionaries, dissenting

professors and outright criminals.

Follow George Wallace for a week and you will hear him suggest that:

Hollering antiwar militants are dragged by the hair and

"stuck under some jail."

Similar noisemakers be-

"manhandled" if they dare to lie down in front of his automobile when and if he becomes president.

Professors who advocate victory in Vietnam for Hanoi and the Viet Cong be thrust into jail along with other such protesters, on the ground this is beyond reasonable dissent and constitutes treason.

All the "anarchists"—Wallace's broad term covering the whole range of present-day troublemakers—be cast beyond the pale of decent society after the Nov. 5 election. He warns them:

"You had better have your fun now because after Nov. 5 you are through in this country."

Thousands of "briefcase-carrying" Washington bureaucrats should be recalled from the field and "their brief cases thrown into the Potomac River."

To underscore the force of proposals like these, and they are legion, Wallace constantly reminds his listeners that "there are a lot more of us than there are of them."

Yet most of his partisans probably take his punishing verbs as they would a baseball fan's shout of: "Kill the umpire." They do not really expect that if he were elected president, Wallace would be dragging people about by the hair, cuffing them around or slapping them into jail by the thousands.

Nevertheless, in this time of incredible tension and turmoil, millions of Americans, terrified by riot and crime and disgusted with protesters' violence on street and campus find immense emotional release in Wallace's uncensored language of retaliatory action.

An elected Wallace might never act them out, but the mere fact that he utters the words persuades many voters he would be tougher than Richard Nixon or Vice President Humphrey.

As the campaign moves to climax, perhaps a fair share of these voters—satisfied in some measure to have heard their anger orchestrated loudly by the little man from Alabama—may turn back to one or the other major party candidate.

But so far there is no proof this is happening. Wallace has found a deep chord of response, a way of strumming hard on assorted discontents. He has with him the most vociferous of the protesters against protest. They could give him an avalanche of votes.

When those at one end of the political spectrum violently assault the establishment, then rigid, threatening resistance from people at the opposite pole suddenly becomes more respectable and acceptable.

George Wallace, never the muted man of the cautious center, symbolizes the new resistance—and its ever-widening acceptability. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Drew Pearson Says

Humphrey Faces Handicaps Similar to Harry Truman's

DENVER—Exactly 20 years ago this October, Harry Truman was meandering through the state of Colorado on his whistle-stop campaign. It was a discouraging trip. The Rocky Mountains stood snow-capped and aloof as if withholding judgment on the peppy little President of the United States who harangued the crowds at railroad stations. The crowds which listened were small and equally aloof. The Aspens, less aloof and golden in their autumn splendor, seemed to bow deferentially as the train passed. The weather was balmy, the sun friendly. But that was about the only smiling aspect of Mr. Truman's bid for another term.

His campaign had started in Pittsburgh, with only 400 of the faithful down at the railroad station. Only 1,000 turned out at Gary, Ind., on a Friday night. On the streets of Chicago he was booed, and again in the Chicago Stadium when he addressed a meeting of the Scandinavian Society.

Omaha was a disaster. Only 1,200 people were in the Ak-Sar-Ben Stadium, which holds 12,000. In Kansas City, his home town, he was booed when he marched with his old Battery D unit. In Kearney, Neb., on a Sunday morning almost no one came out to see him after church. In Casper, Wyo., there were a few. In Idaho he spoke to more sheep than people. Tacoma was a bust. Seattle was a yawn.

I was with Truman on part of the trip. By the time we reached Salt Lake City things had picked up a bit. We snaked through the gorges of the Rockies, stopping at Grand Junction, Glenwood Springs, Eagle, Clearcreek—only a handful of the curious and the friendly crowded around the train as the little man with the double-breasted suit came out on the rear platform to give the reasons why he was going to continue to be President of the United States.

They were respectful but skeptical. They did not see how Harry Truman, running against Tom Dewey plus the conservative party of South Carolina's Gov. Strom Thurmond and the Progressive party of ex-Vice President Henry Wallace, could possibly make it.

Yet he did. And the big question today is: Can Hubert Humphrey, also running behind, also facing a cool and confident Republican plus a right wing rabble-rouser, repeat Harry Truman's political miracle? The answer is that Humphrey faces one factor in his favor and three against him.

Favorable is the fact that a lot of people still have not made up their minds. There is a floating vote which can swing the election on Nov. 5. The three unfavorable factors are:

1. Humphrey is not President as was Truman. He cannot make policy on his own. He is tied to the policies of Lyndon Johnson, some of them highly unpopular.
2. Humphrey is running against a cautious, top-running opponent who is determined not to make any of the mistakes Tom Dewey made in 1948 or that he, Richard Nixon, made in 1960.
3. The third party candidate today is one of the shrewdest rabble-rousers to sway a crowd since Huey Long spread his benign dictatorship over Louisiana with the appeal "every man a king."

George Wallace has some of the innate shrewdness of Huey Long plus some of the tactics of Adolf Hitler. Long and Hitler both capitalized on economic frustration. Wallace is capitalizing on racial and social frustration.

Long came into power in the Deep South when that area had been through a long depression. Thousands had been unemployed, many were on the verge of starvation. Likewise, in Germany, people had been ransacking garbage cans behind restaurants for food. Germany was saddled with a huge reparations debt to England and France. The people saw no chance of paying it. They were discouraged, frustrated. Hitler came along with the easy answer: Defy the Allies; take the law into your own hands.

He added to this his persecution of the Jews. One race, he proclaimed, was responsible for all the woes of Germany.

To make himself respectable, Hitler formed an alliance with a military hero. He persuaded a reluctant Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, then president, to make him chancellor.

Wallace likewise has formed an alliance with a military hero, has exploited the racial frustrations of the American people. He has pinned crime on the Negro and fanned the flames of racial hatred. It matters not to Wallace that race disturbances have dropped in 1967 and 1968 from 1966. It matters not that the great Negro majority want peaceful race relations.

He knows, as did Hitler, that if you repeat a lie over and over again people will believe it.

So, as Hitler did with the Jews, Wallace is making the Negro responsible first for all crime in the streets, second for all the problems of the USA.

And starting in the South with the same population which believed anything Huey Long said, Wallace has taken his campaign north to the second-generation citizens who have not yet learned the importance of basic American freedoms.

There is another characteristic which Wallace shares with Hitler and Huey Long—mental instability. More on this in an early column.

Henry J. Taylor Says

Responsible Management Needed

Perhaps it is high time for a University Manifesto by which our reopening universities can clarify their own thinking. If the trustees and faculties are muddled-headed what can you expect of the student bodies?

Obviously, some defining is in order. In fact, the first need for the University Manifesto is to knock down a magic word.

It is the word democracy. Webster defines it, of course, as "Rule of the majority." But Webster also defines principle as "Devotion to what is right and honorable." The infatuation with the sacrosanct word democracy and the irrational pressures toward the democratic ideal in the administration of our universities, along with the mistaken acceptance of that goal, is a wellspring from which much of the muddled-headedness flows.

University trustees, executives, faculties, students and alumni alike are the victims of this. In an educational world hoping for progress, if ever there was a case of throwing the baby out the window with the bathwater this is it.

Education is the jewel in the crown of democracy. But a proper university is not a democratic machine.

This is not its legitimate administrative purpose nor is it a desirable or workable goal. The apotheosis is about as engaging and advanced as the burning of widows in India. It is not a design for education; it is a meaningless emotional doodle.

Certainly nothing should be left undone to nurture, encourage and vitalize administrative-faculty-student communications. This is so obvious that most educators know it in their sleep. Moreover, great improvements—badly needed—are possible in this required area, along with the expansion of responsible student councils.

For example, my own alma mater, the University of Virginia, has reacted intelligently and constructively to the desire of many students to have a larger role on the nation's campuses.

Before this semester opened it arranged for a broad assortment of faculty and student leaders to meet at a Blue Ridge Mountain retreat for a hair-down, totally frank exchange of ideas dedicated, among other objectives, to having the students register with marvelous emphasis its troubles, "beefs." The outcome was spectacularly good.

An "ivory tower" complex is always a problem in a university or other institution. An institution with a closed mind is wrong, even if the things it believes in are right. But enlightenment is one thing; authority is another.

The purpose of education is to teach people to think. This is an enormously difficult task. Education cannot be conducted on the basis of a community sing. Isn't it an acknowledged fact that a good education cannot be acquired without discipline and the achievement of self-discipline?

Teaching is a profession—a highly specialized and often frustrating profession that requires long training. It is not a popularity contest. Could an airline's passengers successfully choose the pilots? Or could the passenger and pilot, in turn, successfully run the airline?

It is equally preposterous to imagine that a university operation should be democratic—that good education is a matter of everyone having one vote. In Greece the same fine people who invented democracy have often shown an affinity for another Lykabetan perennial—namely, chaos. In the case of a university, that chaos is as certain as the inevitable sweep of a Greek tragedy.

phrey, struggling as the underdog presidential candidate, has been comforted slightly by pollster George Gallup, who sees "striking similarities" between this year's election and the upset year of 1948.

Gallup says many Americans have not made up their minds yet and a "lot of shifting" is going on, as occurred when President Harry S. Truman upset Thomas E. Dewey 20 years ago.

"If Mr. Humphrey can do a Harry Truman and bring the dissident Democrats back into the fold, it would be a different race," the chairman of the American Institute of Public Opinion told the UPI Editors and Publishers conference here.

Gallup attributed the shifting and the indecisiveness to the fact "there is no hero...no man with great charisma in this campaign."

He recalled that President Truman, who upset not only his GOP foe, New York Gov.

The forces of destruction are always one short step behind creation. Education is not a weed that will grow in any soil. It is a delicate crop that can easily wilt and degenerate unless properly administered. And if ill-administered it is the students themselves who suffer most.

Nothing works without management. The duty of management is to manage. In organizations you find good management. You also find bad management, which should be ousted. But the need for responsible management is undeniable.

A university fails as an educational institution whenever trustees, executives, deans and professors duck their responsibility in the face of phony shouts about "academic freedom" or anything else or negotiate with lawbreaking demonstrators under a condition of duress.

If you're worried about troubles striking your own alma mater, why not ask its trustees, the president, deans, etc., if they should not issue a University Manifesto. The enormous need is to clarify the institution's responsibilities loud and clear and in advance. The results have been remarkable in one courageous university after another.

Dewey, but the pollsters as well, showed steady gains in public opinion from Sept. 1 until just before the elections, when the opinion analysts "stopped too early," according to Gallup.

"Mr. Humphrey hasn't started yet; that's his problem," Gallup opined. The Democratic candidate also might have been encouraged by Gallup's statement that one of the oldest myths in politics is what he called the "bandwagon myth."

"Deeply ingrained in the thinking of most political candidates," he said, "is the belief that if they can only show that they are running ahead of their opposition that this fact, in itself, will influence thousands to jump on their bandwagon."

Gallup described the poll as "really a photograph taken at the time people are interviewed." He said it was not a prediction. Noting that since 1952 the Gallup average error has been 1.5 per cent, pollster said he would be lucky if it stayed within 4 per cent this year.

Library Gains Collection Of Books on Gardening

At well attended ceremonies recently, officials of the Woodstock Library and the Woodstock Garden Club met to dedicate a new collection of books about gardening. The collection's nucleus is a bequest to the library by the late Miss Florence Hubbard, club member and library supporter.

Mrs. Harry Schmidt, president of the Woodstock Garden Club, and Mrs. Reginald Wilson, president of the library's board of trustees, officiated at the dedication. Also attending, representing the library, were: Miss Mari Bollman, trustee and book committee chairman; Mrs. Joseph Keefe and Mrs. Allen Bernard, trustees; and Mrs. William Moncure, book committee member. Participating for the Garden Club were Mrs. Craig Vosburgh and Mrs. Lamont Marvin. Miss Therese Kessel and Mrs. Brainard West contributed an arrangement of fresh roses and a fall floral display to mark the occasion.

The library's Woodstock Garden Club shelf now consists of a comprehensive selection of gardening books for reference and pleasure. Up-to-date books on flower and vegetable gardening, trees, shrubs, wild flowers, landscaping, flower arrangement and fruit and flower

Reform Church Retreat Sunday

Members of the consistory and the great consistory of the Woodstock Dutch Reform Church will have a retreat for study and development of their function from 2 to 9 p.m. Sunday.

Members who plan to attend are asked to contact Donald Jameson regarding plans for supper.

A Layman's School of Religion for adults and students will be held in the Life and Work Center. Eight courses are offered for eight Monday evenings. Each person attending will be able to enroll in two courses from among the following: The Gospel of Mark, The Psalms, Current Problems in Religion, Religious Word Studies, Church History, Church Music, How to Lead and Problems of Parenthood.

Overlook Church To Receive New Members

New members will be received into the congregation of the Overlook United Methodist Church Sunday by the Rev. James W. Cook at the 11 a.m. worship service on Oct. 13.

The WSCS of the Overlook United Methodist Church will be the hostesses for the congregational covered dish dinner to honor the building committee and other members of the church. The dinner will be held from 7 to 10:30 p.m. with a full evening's program planned. Each family is asked to bring its own place settings.

Registrations are still being accepted for the Christian Layman's School to be held on eight consecutive Mondays from Oct. 14 (except Nov. 11) through Dec. 9. Classes will be held at the educational building of the Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church under the sponsorship of the Overlook Methodist, Christ Lutheran and the Dutch Reformed Churches of Woodstock.

James Cooper New Principal

John Cooper, new principal of the Woodstock School, will be introduced by Dr. Harold Snyder, superintendent of the Ontario Central School District, at the first fall meeting of the Woodstock School PTA on Tuesday, Oct. 15 at 8 p.m.

Cooper will outline his goals for the year and, in turn, will introduce the administration and faculty of the school. Mrs. Melvin Henderson will be installed as the new president of the PTA and refreshments and a social hour will follow.

DWI Charged

Donald Talmadge, 34, of Saugerties was arrested Wednesday night by Sheriff's Deputy Donald Polcastro and charged with driving while intoxicated and speeding. Deputy Polcastro said Talmadge was speeding 70 miles-per-hour in a 50 MPH zone. When he appeared before Town of Kingston Justice Robert Ferrigan, he was committed to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $200 bail pending a hearing Oct. 23 at 8 p.m.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Youth Group Sponsoring Pancake Supper

The Youth Fellowship of the Reformed Church of Saugerties is sponsoring a pancake supper to be served at the Dutch Arms Chapel on John Street Friday, Oct. 11. The supper will be served from 5:30 to 8. Dinner music will be provided by the members of the Youth Fellowship. Tickets are available from any of the members of the Youth Fellowship and are on sale in Saugerties at Van Etten's Stationery Store, The Corner Store, P. C. Smith Hardware Store and Nick's Shell Station. Tickets will also be available at the door.

Proceeds from the dinner will be used by the young people to help pay their $100 subscription to the steeple fund of the church. Another major project of the young people is attendance at the National Youth Convention on the campus of the University of Illinois between Christmas and New Year. Estimated expenses and travel costs are approximately $70 for each one attending. The young people are contributing personally toward this but it is hoped that there will be funds to assist all who desire to attend.

Nursing Group Installs Slate

The first meeting of the fall for the Saugerties Public Health Nursing Committee was held recently at the Sawkill Country Club.

New officers for a two-year term were installed: president, Mrs. William D. Brinnier; first vice president, Mrs. Edward Gardner; second vice president, Mrs. Charles Ollinger; treasurer, Mrs. Robert Finger; and secretary, Mrs. Sheldon Fuller.

During the month of October the members of the Nursing Committee will assist at the county Orthopedic Clinic in Kingston plus the Well Baby Clinic and the Immunization Clinic held in Saugerties.

President Brinnier asks any one having old sheets to please save them for the Saugerties Nursing Committee. These sheets are used by the club to make the much needed cancer pads. Please drop them off at her home 7 Lafayette St., or she will pick them up at your convenience.

The next meeting of the committee will be held on Oct. 24 at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Robert Finger.

Plan VFW Fund Raising Dance

The VFW Loyalty Day fund raising dance will be held Saturday, Oct. 19 from 9 to 1 in the VFW Hall on Livingston Street. Accommodations are limited to 150.

Tickets may be purchased at the door or from Max and Alice Benson.

The dance is the first of a series of six. Funds realized will be used for the annual Loyalty Day celebration May 1.

Uniform Exchange

Parents of Girl Scouts are reminded that the Saugerties Neighborhood of Girl Scouts has a uniform exchange which is being handled by Mrs. Walter J. Hackett.

If your daughter has a uniform you would like to sell, or give away, or if you would like to purchase a used uniform, please obtain a form from the Grand Union on Market Street, complete it and send it to Mrs. Hackett. Completed forms may also be given to your daughter's troop leader.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil R. Finger of 20 Elm Street, are the proud parents of a daughter, Linda Kay, 9 lbs, 14 oz., born Sept. 30 at the Benedictine Hospital with Dr. Abraham Feldman attending.

Mrs. Finger is the former Shirley Ricketson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Ricketson, and her husband is the son of Mrs. Victor Finger of Katsbaan. Linda Kay has three brothers, Barry 24, Joseph 19, Peter 16, and a sister Rose Anne, seven years of age.

Highland Lions Set Eye Clinic

The Highland Lions Club has announced that a glaucoma clinic will be held for all adults of the community Thursday, Oct. 17. The clinic will be held at the Highland Elementary School, from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m., under the direction of Dr. Maxwell Mund.

Sight Conservation chairman, Frank Marrone, of the Highland Lions Club, has announced that this clinic held in other communities where Lions Clubs are active, has helped many people discover diseases, take corrective measures so that their eyesight has been saved. He said that he could not put enough emphasis on how important it is for adults to attend this free clinic sponsored by the local Lions Club.

Brief School Day, Oct. 15

In order to comply with a State Education Department request for basic educational information, Saugerties schools will operate on a shortened schedule on Tuesday, Oct. 15, according to superintendent of schools, Dr. Dexter O. Arnold. This is the second year that the State Education Department has requested school systems to set aside a certain day to collect basic educational information to be fed to the computers in Albany. As this requires a change in transportation schedules, parents and pupils should note the following arrangements:

1. The Morse, Glasco, Mt. Marion, and Malden schools will close at noon.

2. The Main Street pupils and the fifth and sixth graders at the Junior High School will be dismissed at 12:30 p.m.

3. The Junior and Senior High Schools will close at 1:36 p.m.

4. The second and third sessions of kindergarten will not meet.

5. Pupils in the Junior and Senior High Schools including the fifth and sixth graders at that building will be served lunch as usual but no lunches will be served in the elementary schools. Milk and a cookie will be available for first and second grade pupils at a cost of five cents per child.

6. BOCES classes will be in session as usual.

7. The Woodstock class will dismiss at 1 p.m.

8. Pupils attending the Emma Wygant School will be brought to the high school and transported home by school vehicle.

9. Classroom teachers will meet with the principals in each of the buildings immediately after lunch.

10. Professional personnel other than classroom teachers will report to the high school library at 9 a.m.

Handcraft Club Will Display

Saugerties Handcraft Club of Cooperative Home Extension met recently at the Saugerties Savings Bank with Mrs. Charlotte Althiser in charge.

Mrs. Pearl Christiana, a former active member, who has rejoined the group, was welcomed.

Mrs. Marion Juniak announced that the annual dinner for all Home Extension members will be Nov. 13 at Homowack Lodge, Spring Glen.

The Christmas Open House which will be held in the Kingston at the Municipal Auditorium, Oct. 22, will include the Saugerties club display entitled "Needlework, Gifts and Decorations." Mrs. Velma Krom and Mrs. Ella Whitaker will be in charge.

Members wishing to contribute to the display are asked to leave items with the chairmen.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Lou Carnwright, Mrs. Clara Genthner, Mrs. Charlotte Althiser and Mrs. Marian Lewis.

A sale was conducted by Mrs. Marilyn Walker and Mrs. Ella Whitaker.

W. Saugerties Rebekahs Meet

Queen of the Catskill Mountain Rebekah Lodge 36, held installation ceremonies recently with Phoebe Van Wagenen, district deputy president of Ulster County and her staff of officers in charge.

There will be a banquet for the official visit of the Rebekah Assembly President, Elizabeth Dunlap, on Oct. 18th. A dinner will be served in the Clinton Ave. Methodist Church at 6:30 p.m. Following the dinner members and guests will proceed to the special meeting and entertainment, which will be held at the Colonial Rebekah Lodge.

On October 29 the Odd Fellows will entertain Rebekahs at the West Saugerties Hall.

A joint public dinner by the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, will be held at the hall on Nov. 2.

Surprise Party

Milton H. Armstrong of Fish Creek was given a surprise party at his home by his wife, Alice, on Saturday evening, following the wedding of his son, James, to Miss Joan Holland, in Orange, N. J.

Armstrong is celebrating 40 years with the New York Telephone Company this week and will have a birthday Oct. 13.

Attending the party were Airman First Class and Mrs. Alan Armstrong of Mary Esther, Fla.; Mrs. Jules Henning and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen of Lake Worth, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lee of Harrisburg, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Newton of New York City; the Rev. and Mrs. David E. Lee of Davis, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson of Williston, Vt.; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Atkins of Catskill; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Quackenbush and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Nitschke of Saugerties.

Holy Name Harvest Dinner Dance Oct. 26

The "Unlikely Hoods," a musical-comedy group from Poughkeepsie will be the feature attraction at the annual harvest dinner-dance sponsored by St. Mary of the Snow Holy Name Society on Saturday, Oct. 26, at 7:30.

The dance will be held at the Flamingo Restaurant in Saugerties. As in past years, the response to date has been excellent and a crowd of about 150 is expected to attend.

According to Bud Turek, chairman for the Holy Name, there will be prizes and gifts for the ladies. The theme for the dance is Harvest Moon and the Flamingo will be decorated by the committee. Tickets may be obtained by contacting Bud Turek, 10 Village Drive, Saugerties.

Quarrymen Up, Trinity Holds

Quarryville moved back into contention in Monday night's Saugerties Dartball League games by blanking High Woods Sportsmen 3 to 0. The Quarrymen are now in fourth place.

Trinity, the league leaders held their position despite a 2 to 1 split with American Legion. Second Place Golden Eagles suffered a temporary setback by getting the short end of a 2 to 1 split in their game with Cementon Sportsmen.

Also winning 2 to 1 splits were St. Mary's over Centerville and West Camp Palatines over Centerville Vols.

SALES REPRESENTATIVE OF NEW RESEARCH & DEVELOPMENT CORP.

New Paltz Will Hire Full Time Constable

The New Paltz Town Board last night moved to hire a full time constable at a wage comparable to that of the State Police.

It also resolved to purchase a new patrol car.

It was Town Justice S. Parks Glenn who made the motion to "immediate steps" should be taken.

The board unanimously passed the resolution.

It was pointed out that state policemen salaries begin at $5,800 to about $6,500 depending on experience.

The board appeared ready to establish the salary somewhere around $6,000 a year.

Councilman Walter C. Dyer explained the move by noting the rapid growth of the township which now has a population of some 9,000 persons.

Includes Students
This figure includes about 1,600 resident State University College students presently living in the village.

Justice Glenn said that the town "has enjoyed state police coverage" but that "there are times when they (the State Police) are not available."

Glenn further said that "one (full time constable) is not enough, but we have to have a starting point."

The town presently has five part-time constables and it was indicated that these men would be kept on.

The board will advertise for a constable, and board members hoped they could find a man who lived "within the township," although it was stressed that this would not be a criteria.

Councilman Dominick Stregola asserted that there was "enough money in the 1968 budget" to hire the constable and pay for the vehicle he will use. "We could put a man on tomorrow," he said.

The public hearing on the 1969 budget will take place at the town hall on Oct. 30 at 8 p. m., it was announced.

The Oct. 30 date was also set for a public hearing on the new dog ordinance.

That hearing will begin at 7:30 p. m.

As for the budget, Town Clerk Theodore E. Lasher told The Freeman that the salaries for elected officials would be higher than the 1968 salaries.

Supervisor Anthony Moriello declared that the dog ordinance would be flexible and that it would not require dogs "to be chained or kenneled."

He did say, however, that the dogs would have to be "under the control of the owner or some other responsible person."

The ordinance would be for the township outside of the village. The village has its own dog ordinance.

New Welcome Sign
Councilman Stregola moved that a town welcome sign on Route 299, east of the village, be taken down and replaced with a new one.

Both he and Councilman Dyer were appointed to investigate the possibilities of a new sign and how it should be worded.

It was also announced at the regular meeting that Supervisor Moriello gave the town 400 rainbow trout which are now in the sanitary landfill pond.

The pond is located north of the village off Route 32 on Pioneer Trail.

Moriello told The Freeman that the fish were purchased from the federal government's Fish and Wildlife Service, an agency of the Department of Interior.

He said that he picked up the fish in Kingston and transported them to New Paltz in two 30 gallon tanks.

The fish, all three to four inches long, will serve the youngsters of the township.

It was also noted that topsoil was spread and leveled at the landfill ball park and that John Dodd did the seeding.

Burglary Case Is Adjourned

Willie Rufus Jones, 22 of Washington, D.C. indicted by the grand jury Sept. 27, appeared in county court Wednesday and through his attorney William D. Brinnier entered an innocent plea.

On the request of the defense attorney, the case was adjourned to Wednesday, Oct. 23 by Judge Raymond J. Mino and the defendant was remanded to county jail.

Jones was charged in the indictment with burglary, third degree; criminal trespass, second and petit larceny.

Ellenville state police at the time of his arrest said Jones entered the room of James Abernathy, a guest at Peg Leg Bates Country Club, Kerhonkson Aug. 18 and allegedly took Abernathy's wallet containing in excess of $60. The victim awoke and after a brief scuffle subdued Jones and held him for the police.

Assistant District Attorney James H. Fisher appeared for the prosecution.

Of the 160,000 law books housed in the library of the New York County Lawyer's Association, only some 7,500 involve criminal law.

Dutchess Cattle In the Moos On Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP)—With the stock market closed, five head of cattle from Dutchess County stole the show on Wall Street Wednesday.

The Chase Manhattan Bank staged the cattle show to promote its agricultural services in lending money for farm development.

The cattle were led to the bank's plaza from a Liberty Street garage where they had spent the night. The plaza, known for the day as One Chase Manhattan Pasture, a pun on the bank's exclusive address, had thousands lined up at lunchtime to watch the show.

Bonnie Smith, 21, the New York State Dairy Princess from Big Flats, N.Y., near Elmira, led the way to the plaza where two pens and a platform had been put up. She was later kicked by a calf, but went ahead with her spiel in behalf of milk-drinking without apparent injury.

Two professors from Cornell University's department of animal husbandry, Raymond Albertsen and Myron Lacy, lectured on the dairy and beef business.

What with big-bosomed babes parading through the Wall Street area of late, and now cows, the milk industry has got to be the sentimental favorite for investing purposes.

Must List Flops

WASHINGTON (AP)—Investment advisers and stock brokers who advertise pastwise recommendations to customers would have to list their flops as well under rule changes being considered by the Securities and Exchange Commission. Specific mention of one investment recommendation in an advertisement would have to be accompanied by all recommendations—the bad as well as the good—over the past year, the SEC said Wednesday.

The ad could offer to provide a full list on request under the rule being considered but "the advertisement cannot list some and offer to furnish the rest in a list."

Violence Report Shows

Most Americans Are Arming

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson's commission on violence, in the first such data ever assembled, has traced a distinct correlation between rising tension and fear in the country and skyrocketing gun sales.

It has found that for the first six months of this year alone, manufacturers produced more than 20 bullets for every man, woman and child in the United States.

Figures obtained primarily from gun manufacturers themselves support what Internal Revenue Commissioner Sheldon Cohen testified Wednesday: that Americans are arming "in the cities and in the countryside."

Representatives of two major firearms firms—Remington Arms Co., Inc., of Bridgeport, Conn., and Colt Industries, Inc., of Hartford—asked that they be allowed to testify in closed session today. Their testimony will complete a two-day session on firearms by the commission on the causes and prevention of violence.

The commission hearings coincided with a drive toward final congressional approval of a compromise bill to outlaw most interstate sales of rifles, shotguns and ammunition—a followup to a similar limitation on handguns already written into law this year.

The Senate approved the long-gun measure by voice vote

Monday, and the House was expected to follow suit quickly, as sales figures.

Figures compiled by the fairly commission on violence showed steady increase in sales through this year, 1.2 million handguns sharp hike in 1967—the summer were produced or imported, 50 per cent more than the total highest.

production of 1967—which in turn was 33 per cent above the 1966 total.

Lloyd Cutler, executive director of the commission, said the totals which the commission lists as "estimated production

Court Will Decide Eugene's Ballot Case

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state's highest court will be asked to decide whether or not Minnesota Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's name should be on the presidential ballot in the November election in New York State.

Appeals on three other election cases also are planned. The Court of Appeals said Wednesday it had agreed to hear the McCarthy case next Wednesday.

The decision is being sought by Secretary of State John P. Lomenzo, who ruled earlier that McCarthy's name could not appear on the ballot.

McCarthy, a Democrat whose name was put forward by a group known as the Coalition party, had told Lomenzo he did not want his name on the ballot. The secretary of state says the man's consent is required by state election laws if a candidate's name is to appear.

Lomenzo's decision was upheld by the State Supreme Court. Monday, however, the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court held that McCarthy's name must be on the ballot, despite the senator's wishes.

"I think it is important that we must have a Court of Appeals decision in order to have proper guidance for future elections," Lomenzo said in Rochester Wednesday.

"He (McCarthy) is entitled to the courtesy of determining whether his desire in the matter is approved by the state's highest court."

The Attorney General's office, which represents Lomenzo's department in court, said it would file appeals against three other Appellate Division decisions overruling Lomenzo.

On one, the court held that Herman B. Ferguson, convicted of conspiracy to murder moderate civil rights leaders, should be reinstated on the ballot as the U.S. Senate candidate of the Peace and Freedom party. The court rejected the argument that Ferguson was ineligible because he had been convicted of a felony.

Probe Continues In T-Way Theft

State Police BCI officers and New York City authorities today continued investigation of the hijacking of a truck loaded with women's new clothing that occurred on Sept. 28 on the Thruway 10 miles south of Kingston.

An official said today that there were no new developments as yet, and he said a further check of the cargo showed the clothing value had been fixed at $75,000.

Benjamin Roberts, 28, of New York City, the driver of the truck, and Peter Fowler, 36, also of New York, were transporting the clothes from Vermont and upstate New York cities at the time they were accosted by two armed men, who later abandoned the empty truck at Staten Island.

Fined $100 For Shoplifting

A 47-year-old Saugerties woman was arrested at 4:40 p. m. Wednesday and charged with shoplifting at Caldor's store, and later she paid a $100 fine.

Security Officer Herbert O'Brien, who made the arrest with State Trooper Patrick Sheehan of the Kingston substation, said Della Brownlee, of 16 Partition Street, was accused of taking merchandise valued at $7.68.

O'Brien reported the merchandise, found in the woman's handbag consisted of three cans of spray paint, a roll of self-sticking tape, a plastic cover and two pairs of work gloves.

Arraigned before Ulster Town Justice Sherwood E. Davis, the woman pleaded guilty to petit larceny. She was fined $100 or 30 days in the county jail. The fine was paid and the defendant was ordered to make restitution.

URA Fire Under Probe

Kingston detectives were called upon by fire officials to investigate a fire that appeared to be of incendiary origin at the former Schecter's Market at 17-19 East Union Street, Wednesday night. The blaze was the latest in a rash of suspicious fires that have occurred in buildings owned by Kingston Urban Renewal Agency.

A telephone call reporting the fire at 9:38 p. m. was followed minutes later by a bell alarm. Upon arrival firefighters found paper and debris burning in the center of the second floor of building.

Pressurized water directed from Engine 1, Truck 1 and Rapid Hose Company under the direction of Deputy Chief Robert Maines was used to extinguish the flames that damaged flooring. Firemen examined the entire interior of the building but found no other fire.

Memoriam

In loving memory of our mother, Abigail Stoutenburg, who passed away Oct. 10, 1967. The depths of sorrow we cannot tell. Of the loss of one we loved so well. And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep. Her memory we shall always keep.

CHILDREN & GRANDCHILDREN

Memoriam

In loving memory of CPO Edwin James Van Gasbeck, whom God called home 10 years ago today, Oct. 10, 1958.

The world may change from year to year. And friends from day to day. But never will the one we loved From memory pass away.

A New Practitioner For the Children

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A group of trainees starts classes next summer. With this specialized training, the new practitioner will be ready to see patients after five years of post-high school study, compared with 11 years to put a pediatrician into practice and nine years for a general practitioner.

The work will have a range broader than a nurse's but narrower than a doctor's. The workers will meet the medical needs of children who don't require special attention or care for serious ailments.

This new category of medicine—it doesn't have a formal name yet—is the brainchild of Dr. Henry K. Silver of the medical school's department of pediatrics.

Silver said vast numbers of children already are "receiving grossly inadequate total health care." And, he said, "It's going to get much worse."

He said estimates place the child population of the United States at 76 million by 1980. To provide adequate health care for these children an additional 100,000 pediatricians need to be trained by then, he said.

The quota cannot be met, even allowing for a drastic increase in the present rate of fewer than 1,000 pediatricians entering practice each year.

Silver's plan will begin to become a reality when the first next summer.

With this specialized training, the new practitioner will be ready to see patients after five years of post-high school study, compared with 11 years to put a pediatrician into practice and nine years for a general practitioner.

"This is not a substitute for a doctor, but entails more actual responsibility than a nurse or some form of medical technician," he explained.

The training period can be shorter, he said, because the courses will be focused mainly on the needs of children. This abbreviated training should make the program attractive to those—such as women who want a medical career along with marriage and family—who don't want to spend the time required to become a doctor, Silver said.

Generous Gift

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Miss Rose Enoch, a registered nurse, walked into the offices of Penrose Hospital and placed a penny, a dime, a $10 bill and three pieces of paper on a desk.

She said the papers were stock certificates, worth $25,000 and she wished to donate the stock and cash for the hospital's new cancer research building.

Grand Opening

Loeb, Rhoades & Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange have moved to their new offices in the Kingston Shopping Plaza from their former location on Wall Street. Walter L. Foster (1), vice president of the Kingston Trust Company discusses the move with Frank D. Hoornbeek, Loeb, Rhoades branch manager (c) and Henry A. Loeb, partner of the brokerage firm, 42 Wall Street, New York City. Hoornbeek said of the move "the expansion of our business required that we triple our floor space so that we may continue to provide investors with the best service available and help pace the growth of our expanding local economy." The Loeb, Rhoades branch is joined by the firm's extensive private wire system which provides immediate access to primary markets through branch offices, correspondent, and their connections in more than 100 cities in the United States and Canada. Edward S. Riley, partner of the Wall Street firm, attended the opening event. (Tom Reynolds Studio photo)

What's New

Representatives of Canada Dry explore the finer points of the Company's new Cola drink, "Sport Cola" 99 per cent caffeine free during a local meeting. The Kingston-Poughkeepsie area has been chosen as a major market for the cola which has been successfully introduced in other cities of the country. Left to right are Sam Tubolino, sales manager; Bob LaBrie, branch manager; Bernard Connors, president, Tri-State Canada Dry, Manager and George Neumann, vice president, Canada Dry Corporation.

WILLIAM G. MOON

ICS Promotes Moon to Manager

William G. Moon of 1020 Columbia Street, Kingston, has been promoted to the position of area manager by International Correspondence School. A native of this city, Moon attended local schools.

Prior to his employment with ICS in 1967, he was associated with S. T. A. M. P., Rhinebeck, Standard Gage, Daystrom and the DeLaval Separator Company in Poughkeepsie.

Moon is a member of the American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers, ICS Century Club and an honorary member of the Kingston Boat Club.

McCoy Is Named Senior Engineer At Kingston IBM

The promotion of William B. McCoy to senior engineer in the Kingston IBM Systems Development Division Laboratory has been announced.

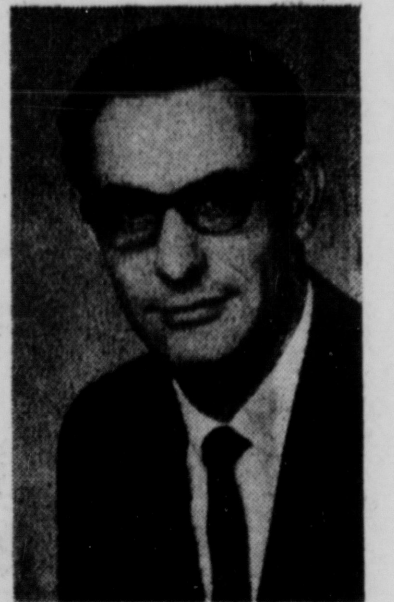

As Power Systems Analysis manager, McCoy's responsibilities include SDD power system optimization for new logic and memory technologies, special power system applications, and development of power system analysis techniques.

McCoy joined IBM in June 1953 as a Defense Field Engineering trainee at the Poughkeepsie facility. He later transferred to Kingston, and in July 1955 was promoted to associate engineer. In August 1957, he was promoted to project engineer, and then to development engineer in February 1961.

Prior to June 1966, McCoy held several management and staff positions in Kingston. In June 1966, he was appointed Systems Circuits and Analysis manager, a job he held until this promotion.

A graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, he holds a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering. He is a member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers, and Eta Kappa Nu, engineering honorary society.

McCoy, his wife Barbara, and daughter Susan, reside near New Paltz.

100 Boys, Leaders Attend Fall Minnewaska Trail Camporee

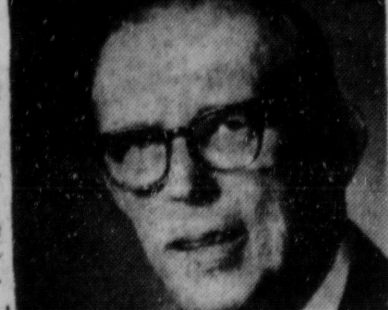

More than 100 boys and leaders attended the 1968 Minnewaska Trail District fall camporee project weekend held recently at Tri-Mount Scout Reservation. Attending were Scouts from Troops 16 of Stone Ridge, 17 of Tillson, 12 Highland, 171 Clintondale, 172 New Paltz, and Troop 3 Kingston. The Scouts cleared approx-mately 10 acres of overgrown fields in preparation for tree planting to be accomplished this coming spring. Dedication ceremonies for the new camp chapel were held on Saturday afternoon with a short program. Representatives of the Catholic, Jewish and Protestant faiths participated in the ceremonies.

Dignitaries present included the Rev. Harry Christians, the Rev. James LeBar, the Rev. George Wood, Scout Executive Alex Macdonald, Camping and Activities Chairman Henry Eglumey, and Order of the Arrow Lodge Advisor John Carlson. All Scouts at the camporee participated in the dedication. A campfire was held Saturday evening planned by Troop 3.

Protestant services were conducted in East Jewett by the Rev. Mr. Cady, and Father LeBar celebrated Mass in the new camp chapel on Sunday morning. This weekend was made possible by the outstanding support of the Troop leaders who gave of their time and effort and James Feth of Troop 16, to transport the Scouts and supervise them where needed. They included Richard Marquard and Hilton Thorn of Troop 171 Clintondale; Howard Setterlund and Nicholas Tiberio of Troop 70, Highland; Ray Simonetti and Father LeBar of Troop 3; Richard Davenport

Cub Pack 9 Inducts Five

An opening ceremony was held with Cub Scouts Gary Merrihew and Thomas Wolf, Den Chief, Daniel Deyo and Adult leader Lance Cooper.

Cubmaster Ted Blankschan presented Daniel Deyo and Ronald Zimmerman with den chief warrants and den books. David Ryan advanced to Wolf and Robert Karaffa received a 2-year pin. Several activity badges were awarded—Robert and Rochford earned aquanaut and sportsman, John Van Brink earned scholar and showman, Robert Karaffa earned aquanaut, outdoorsman, traveler, naturalist, showman. Cubday at Tri-Mount strips were also distributed.

A bobcat induction was held for Frank Constable, Gerard Whipple, James Hadsel, Ralph Mitchell, Michael Motsey. The former were branded along with Jeffrey Englander and Joseph Zehnick who had previously been inducted. They were welcomed into Pack 9 by Cubmaster Blankschan and Assistant Cubmaster Joseph Karaffa.

The Cubmaster inducted Mrs. Jacqueline Hutton as den mother and presented her with a den mothers' patch.

A Webelos induction was held for Cub Scouts Albert Policastro, Gary Marrihew, Thomas Loughlin, Thomas Hermance. They were given Boy Scout handbooks by Webelos Denner Robert Rochford and their Webelos shoulder patches by Assistant Webelos Denner Robert Karaffa.

Recently the assistant cubmaster and his family took a 10,000-mile trip through the West and Midwest States. He presented a movie taken of Philmont Scout Reservation. Disnevland also a campout and hike taken earlier in the year by the Webelos Den.

What to Do In Case Fire Hits Your Home

If fire should strike your home, could you and your family get out, do you have a fire escape plan? Here is what Captain Hugh Greer of the Kingston Fire Prevention Bureau says you should do in case of fire:

First, get everyone out of the house, then call the fire department. Once out never return to a building involved in fire. Many fire deaths would not have happened if those involved had heeded this advice.

If you smell smoke, don't rush out into the hallway. First, place the palm of your hand on the door. If the door feels cool, open it slightly, pass your hand across the opening, if the air feels cool, it should be safe to enter the hallway.

Close the door behind you as you leave the house (this will prevent spread of the fire.) After everyone is safely out, call the fire department. If the door feels hot, the hallway is already filled with deadly heated gases. Keep the door closed and use another escape route or wait at the window for rescue. Arouse people by shouting.

Right now, before fire breaks out in your home, figure out two possible escape routes from every room in your home with a special emphasis on bedrooms.

Hold actual fire drills until everyone knows exactly what to do. Learn the location of the nearest fire alarm box to your home and post the fire department's phone number near your telephone.

Innocent Pleas In County Court

Two defendants indicted by the grand jury on Sept. 27 entered pleas of innocent through their attorney Joseph Hill Wednesday in county court, and their cases were adjourned by Judge Raymond J. Mino to Wednesday, Oct. 23 at 11 a.m.

The defendants, Russell H. Clapper, 22 of Glenrie, and Michael J. Quinliven, 19 of Schoharie were charged in the indictment with criminal possession of stolen property, first degree, and unauthorized use of a vehicle.

Highland state police at the time of the arrest in August said the two defendants and another, 15 years old were charged in connection with the theft of an automobile in Boston on Aug. 8.

Assistant District Attorney James H. Fisher appeared for the prosecution.

West Coast Man To Plead Case

John Reinos, 25 of San Francisco, Calif., appeared in county court Wednesday where he was informed that his attorney withdrew from the case. Reinos told the court that he would waive his right to be represented by counsel and would like to plead his own case. Judge Raymond J. Mino reserved decision on the request and adjourned the case to October 16 at 11 a.m. The defendant was remanded to county jail.

Reinos was indicted Sept. 27 by the grand jury on charges of grand larceny, third degree; petit larceny; unauthorized use of a vehicle, and burglary, second degree, two counts.

At the time of the arrest Ellenville troopers reported that a guest at Tamarack Lodge complained that on Aug. 18

Vincent van Gogh, whose works of art command extremely high prices today, never sold one of his paintings during his lifetime.

APPOINTED — Charles A. Schoeneck, chairman of the New York Republican Committee, recently appointed Mrs. Marie Jo Dunham, of 76 Wilson Avenue, to the executive committee of the New York Republican State Committee.

Mrs. Dunham, treasurer of Dunham Tunnel and secretary-treasurer of Rock Construction, will serve with Joseph Frangello, of Albany, the other representative from the Third Judicial District.

Seminar on Drugs

Five speakers, all experts in drug addiction, will participate in a five-week narcotics seminar being offered to the community by Ulster County Community College to help fight drug abuse through education.

The five all are associated with the state Narcotic Addiction Control Commission, which is cooperating with the college for the seminar called Operation Concern. It is open to the public and there is no registration fee.

The speakers include: Robert Dolins, assistant commissioner for narcotic education, who will talk on The Role of Community Organizations as They Apply to Narcotic Addiction and Drug Abuse.

David Diamond, assistant counsel, who will talk on Guidelines for Implementation of Article 9 of the Mental Hygiene Laws Enacted to Counteract the Drug Problem.

Raymond Bara, director of guidance services, who will talk on From Adolescence to Addiction — The User.

Dr. S. Seymour Joseph, an assistant commissioner, who will speak on Medical and Psychological Effects of Drugs. He also will cover the historical background of drugs, the effects of stimulants, barbiturates and other drugs.

Benjamin C. Lemon, director of community education centers, who will talk on The Drug Danger and show a film entitled The Seekers.

The seminar sessions will be at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 16; Wednesday, Oct. 23; Wednesday, Oct. 30; Thursday, Nov. 7 and Wednesday, Nov. 13, in the Teaching Auditorium (Room 415) in the John Burroughs Science Building at the college's Stone Ridge campus.

The seminar, designed especially for members of the community, has the goal of informing the public about the problem of narcotics and drug abuse and providing information on treatment and prevention.

Bell Is Cast as 'Hip' For Annual Kaper Show

Tony Bell, general manager of Radio Station WGHQ, has been cast to play the lead role of "Hip Van Winkle" in the current edition of the Kingston Kiwanis Club's Kapers.

The show, entitled "The Legend of Hip Van Winkle," will be presented the nights of Oct. 22-24 at the Kingston High School Auditorium.

For the show, Bell, who has slept through the last 20 years from 1948 to 1968, awakes to find himself with a group of Hippies at a love-in.

Bell has appeared in the Kiwanis Kapers for the last 10 years, and the last two years he played the role of "Mrs. Broadmouth. Previously, he played the part of a presidential candidate in the show entitled, "The Making of a President."

A resident of Kingston part 12 years, Bell resides at 156 Hurley Avenue with his wife and four children.

He formerly took a radio broadcasting course at Columbia University co-sponsored by the university and the National Broadcasting Corp. Before coming to Kingston, he worked for radio stations in Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

In local community service, Bell has served on the building fund drive for Benedictine Hospital. He also has worked on Community Unit of the American Cancer Society.

BIG-STITCH STORY

There's a big-stitch story coming up in men's sweaters this fall—big popcorn stitches, rib cables, geometrics, and criss-cross effects.

Bulky sweaters of this type, made of a special Orlon yarn, can be expected to retain their shape and texture through repeated sudings.

RV Middle School Dedication Oct. 20

The formal dedication of the new building and its facilities. Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria. Program music will be provided by the Middle School Band directed by Walter Highland.

Kingston Girl Wins Honors in Artorama

Ellen Lane, member of troop 54, Kingston, received a blue ribbon for Best of Show at the Girl Scout Artorama held recently at Camp Wendy. Her colorful abstract painting also took first place in the Junior Division of the Water Color Tempera Class. Troop 54 is sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church of Kingston, and is under the leadership of Mrs. Francis Dougherty and Mrs. Leeman Chase.

Other winners in the ten categories were: Ceramics — Doreen Raible, Kingston, Bonnie Vigliotti, Highland, Susan Fracasse, New Paltz, Pam D'Esposito, Highland, Cindy Holiday, New Paltz, heresa Tabler and Evelyn Geisler, Saugerties.

Mobiles — Nancy Gruner, Highland, Sue Schaaf, Kingston, Crafts from Nature Materials — Kitty Foster, Milton, Nancy Magliola, Highland, Jane Spadafora, Lake Katrine, Debbie Kniffen, Milton, Cathy Beesmer, Kingston, Judy Hasbrouck and Marianne Storch, New Paltz.

Water Color—Tempera: Veronica Ofca, Highland; Ellen Lane, Kingston; Stephanie Cherney, Saugerties; Arlene Hepworth, Milton; Toy Yelvington and Sue Schaff, Kingston. Crayon—Pastel—Linda Auchmoody, Highland; Kitty Foster, Milton; Wendy Thompson, New Paltz; Barbara Ross, Walkkill, Yvonne Carter, Highland; Christine Johnson, Saugerties; Kathy Castle, Kingston.

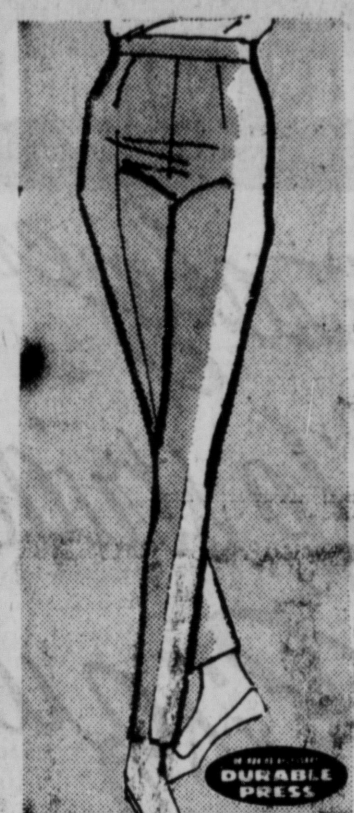

Creative Stitchery—Pam Kniffen and Laura Schoonmaker, Milton; Barbara Bruening, Rondout Valley, Taffy Bunt, have the opportunity of touring the new building and its facilities. Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria. Program music will be provided by the Middle School Band directed by Walter Highland.

The classrooms in the Middle School are arranged in two, two-story segmental units, surrounding the two lecture rooms on the first floor and the two resource centers on the second floor. Classrooms in each unit have folding partitions to permit the combining of two and three rooms. Each segmental unit contains one science laboratory on each floor, toilet rooms, storage and space for teachers' work and planning.

Architects for the Rondout Valley Middle School were Ketcham-Miller-Arnold; Moyer & Moyer were mechanical consultants and Stuart H. Snyder and Associates were structural consultants. Contractors for the building were General Construction, Warwick Construction, Inc.; heating — Tougher Heating & Plumbing Co., Inc.; plumbing — Bank Brothers; and electrical — Luna Electric Company, Inc.

Area's Top Officials For Chest Grid Contest

Four of the area's top football officials have agreed to 19 "Mayhem Football Game" make sure the politicians stay between members of the two major political parties.

The game, which will benefit the Ulster County Community Chest, will be augmented by a variety show and a victory dance.

Andrew J. Murphy III, Superintendent of Recreation for the City of Kingston; John Gilligan, outstanding basketball and cross country coach at Kingston High School; James Gilpatrick, well-known city undertaker and Tom Maines, former grid star at Syracuse University, will officiate at the two-hand touch game, scheduled to get underway at 7:30 p. m. at Dietz Stadium.

Football rosters for both the Republicans and Democrats are complete and each side will have between 35 and 40 "players" suited for action.

In addition to the game itself, spectators will be treated to an outstanding halftime show featuring the music of Harry Castiglione and his 14 piece orchestra from Local 215 of the Musician Union.

The orchestra will also be on hand at the Walnut Grove for the victory dance. The dance will take place immediately after the game and admission will be by football ticket only.

Michael Spada, proprietor of the Walnut Grove, will contribute a percentage of proceeds to the Community Chest.

In addition to the talents of the Castiglione band, Dick Hall, a talented singer and master of ceremonies from the Granit Hotel in Accord; the Wayside Singers, the Kings Man Chorus, the Singing Nurses, Lee Barnett and his trio and others will appear for the half-hour show during the game's intermission and for another half-hour at the conclusion of the contest.

Tickets for this extravaganza have been distributed to several key points in the area and will be sold until the night of the game, variety show and dance.

To aid spectators at Dietz Stadium, Red Feather girls and male ushers will be in attendance.

Vols Urge Strong Emphasis on Fire Prevention Week

Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association urged strong emphasis on fire prevention during the observance of National Fire Prevention Week.

The great Chicago fire of 1871 is the only major conflagration whose anniversary is marked by an international observance—Fire Prevention Week—proclaimed each year in the U. S. and Canada.

The observance was originated in 1911 as Fire Prevention

Day by the Fire Marshals Association of North America. On recommendation of a National Fire Protection Association committee, it was extended to a week in 1922.

Fire Prevention Week is always the Sunday through Saturday period in which Oct. 9 falls the date of the Chicago disaster. The big fire killed 250 persons and destroyed 17,430 buildings at a loss of $168,000,000.

Other figures are made available by Earnest R. Runn, county Fire Prevention Week chairman who quotes the National Fire Protection Association.

Each and every day, fires in the U.S. claim an average of 33 lives; 1,527 homes; 20 schools; 9 churches; 13 hospitals and nursing homes; 130 stores and 123 industrial plants.

About 12,200 lives are lost annually in fires in the U. S. About 6,500 of those casualties result from dwelling fires. Statistics indicated that 2,100 children are killed in home fires each year. One for every three young victims is alone when fire starts.

The number one cause of building fires is smoking and matches, the research report concluded.

Chemicals Hailed by Policemen

HONOLULU (AP) — "Since we started using chemical sprays we have practically eliminated the night stick. It's better than hitting a man over the head," says Police Chief Joseph C. Hall of Asheville, N.C.

His endorsement of chemical spray devices was typical of the reaction of police chiefs interviewed today at the 75th annual conference of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

Police Chief Thomas Cahill of San Francisco, the association's first vice president, said city supervisors there have prohibited police from using chemical agents because of possible eye injuries but "I personally think we should be allowed to use chemical agents under certain conditions." He said he felt pressure spray devices "are a valuable weapon in the control of violence with a minimum of hazard involved."

"Certainly chemical agents are less harmful than shotguns, rifles, clubs or even handcuffs," said Chief Silver Suarez of Springfield, Ill., but he cautioned police should not become careless in their use of such items.

"In the hands of an untrained policeman, the use of a chemical agent could result in a charge of police brutality," Suarez added.

Chief Paul Shaver of Albuquerque, N.M., said there has been "a lot less use of the night stick since the introduction of chemical agents. The men on the beat are very strong in favor of the use of chemical agents."

Chief Elmer A. Briscoe of Reno, Nev., felt "it is a lot more humane than using the night stick or another weapon."

J. Preston Strom, chief of the South Carolina Law Enforcement Division, said one policeman can immobilize four or five people without doing any permanent injury by using a chemical spray device so "it gives the policeman an added sense of security."

Daniel F. McMahon, sheriff of New York's Westchester County, said "there has been no conclusive proof that the use of chemical agents will cause permanent injury. This is a more desirable weapon than being forced to use firearms."

Lloyd Robertson, deputy superintendent of the Arizona Highway Patrol, feels a report by the U.S. surgeon general on the use of chemical agents was taken out of context by critics. The report said there was a need for additional research on the use of chemical agents.

The president of the association, Chief Leonard G. Lawrence of Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, said chemical devices are the "most humane way to handle disorders."

However, he said, the association believes an "exhaustive investigation is needed to determine the best chemical to use."

Zone Teachers Slate Sessions Oct. 18 and 19

Approximately 7,000 teachers of the South Eastern Zone, New York State Teachers Association, hold their annual fall professional conference at eight centers on Friday, October 18. Announcement of the meetings was made by Seymour J. Weiss of Spring Valley, zone president.

South Eastern, one of the 15 districts of the State Teachers Association, includes the counties of Dutchess, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan, and Ulster.

At each center the educators will convene in general session to hear a guest authority discuss a topic of interest to teachers.

Speaker at the only meeting in Ulster County will be Professor Robert S. Harnack of State University College at Buffalo, on Teacher Decision Making. The area meeting will be held at the Granit Hotel theater, Accord.

Participating in the annual meeting of zone officers committee chairmen and delegates Oct. 19 at the Holiday Inn, Newburgh, will be Kenneth E. Hasbrouck of Forest Glen, New Paltz first vice president and Beatrice Fredricksen of Hyde Park, recording secretary.

Following the Oct. 18 general sessions, teachers will be able to inspect exhibits of new textbooks and instructional materials. Small group meetings on school subjects, grade levels and various educational topics will be held.

Red Hook Park Group Sets Oct. 15 Parley

Willis Weisz, president of Red Hook Park of Red Hook, Inc., has issued an invitation to all who reside in the Red Hook Central School District, to attend the first annual meeting to be held by the park on Tuesday, Oct. 15 at 8 p.m. at the senior high cafeteria.

'State of Park' Message
A "State of the Park" message will give a "brief resume and projection of our two-year history," he said.

"from the spark of an idea, through the heat of our successful spring fund drive, to definitive plans for the swimming pool and park layout." Diagrams and pictures will illustrate the presentation.

He reiterated that membership in the corporation is free upon application and entitles people to use all park facilities, including the swimming pool at certain times.

Elections Scheduled
Elections will be held for four directorships and the bylaws will be adopted. The park board has been determining policy, according to the by-laws, until this annual meeting. Weisz said, "It's important to have a mandate from a large group of members to continue park planning and development." Directors whose terms expire are Mrs. Geraldine Lanco, Jack Hautmann, Victor Orthmann and Herbert Saulpaugh. Copies of the by-laws are available at the Thrift Shop. Refreshments will be served by a committee headed by Mrs. Walter Ullas.

Freeze-Out-Wallace Plan Fails Even If Election Goes to House plan to freeze out George C. Wallace if the presidential election goes to the House of Representatives is dead, one of its prime backers says.

Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., says top advisors to Hubert H. Humphrey and Richard M. Nixon shied away from seeking pledges by House candidates to support the presidential candidate with the highest popular vote, no matter what party.

"The big Nixon lead in the polls makes this sort of academic now anyway," Udall said in an interview.

He and then-Rep. Charles Goodell, R-N.Y., proposed the pledge plan two months ago.

The timing coincided with the emergence of Wallace's third party movement as a major force which might prevent any candidate from getting the required majority of Electoral College votes.

In such a situation the House chooses the president with each state delegation casting one vote.

There are no guidelines as to how House members should vote in their state caucus, Udall said, and nothing to prevent them from voting for a candidate even though he might have gotten fewer popular votes than any other nominee.

Udall said 100 of the estimated 800 candidates for House seats have promised to support the presidential candidate pulling the most popular votes.

"It's been the old problem of trying to repair the roof when the sun's shining," Udall commented about the failure to convince more people to make the pledge.

He said House leaders of both parties opposed the plan. But even more telling, Udall said, was the hemming and hawing by advisors to Humphrey and Nixon.

"The Nixon people say, for instance, there are 18 delegations where a switch of seats could change the state's vote in any House vote for a President. With a Nixon landslide they expect to win those seats so they say why bother about a pledge plan," Udall said.

Cleveland to Improve Its Law Enforcement

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—$22,125-a-year post to Deputy Inspector Patrick L. Gerity, 49. Blackwell, who was appointed police chief when Stokes took office last November, turned down an offer to become a consultant to the police department and said he would rather go back to being an inspector.

Stokes told a news conference he would ask City Council for funds to overhaul the police communications system and to establish a modern command center to coordinate police response to crime calls.

He said he would fully detail the program later but the immediate aim was to correct the "internal breakdown of police morale and discipline."

Relations between members of the 2,200-man police department and City Hall became strained after the July 23 sniper incident when 10 persons, including three white policemen, were killed after a group of black nationalists opened fire on police.

Stokes withdrew white police and National Guardsmen from the Glenville area the night after the shootings. Black community leaders and Negro policemen patrolled the streets.

Although Stokes' decision was later praised by some persons as having prevented more bloodshed, the Fraternal Order of Police strongly criticized the mayor's actions.

The order demanded the resignation of Safety Director Joseph F. McManamon. A resolution calling for Blackwell's resignation was dropped in view of the police chief's age.

There were reports that patrolmen were broadcasting derogatory remarks about Stokes over the police radio and refusing to answer calls to Negro areas.

Two Injured In Motorcycle, Car Collision
A motorcycle rider and a woman motorist were injured shortly after 4:30 p.m. Wednesday as the result of a two-vehicle collision on First Avenue, according to Kingston Police who investigated.

Robert Van Steenberg, 21, of 133 Third Avenue, was operating his motorcycle west on First Avenue, when it was in collision with a 1964 sedan operated by Mrs. Louise M. Elting, 37, of 329 First Avenue, who was attempting a left turn into the driveway at her home.

Van Steenberg was taken to Kingston Hospital and treated for bruises and leg injuries. He was cited by police for unlicensed operation of a motorcycle.

Police reports noted that Mrs. Elting sustained leg injuries. James Elting, 5, and Katie, 2, were shaken by the impact of the vehicles. Mrs. Elting said she would see her own physician.

Name Warthin Conservation President
A. Scott Warthin Jr., professor of geology at Vassar College, is the new president of the Hudson River Conservation Society.

He was elected at a meeting of the board of directors in Poughkeepsie recently. William H. Osborn, his predecessor who resigned in June, remains as a director.

Dr. Warthin has been a member of the Vassar faculty since 1929 and in the summer of 1961 directed the first six-week summer institute in earth science at Vassar, sponsored by the National Science Foundation. He has been active in community affairs as director of Dutchess County civil defense and an assistant state deputy director of civil defense, chairman of the Dutchess County Water Conservation committee and the County Flood Forecast Committee.

Smash Huge Bookmaking Operation
BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—Police broke up an estimated $35,000-a-week bookmaking operation Wednesday when they raided an apartment that had been under surveillance for four weeks.

Police said they salvaged records and materials from a sports and horse betting racket that were printed on highly flammable "flash" paper set afire as police broke down the door to the apartment. Gambling squad detectives slapped the fire out with their hands.

Andrew Zimmer, 56, was arrested and charged with advancing gambling, possession of gambling records and tampering with evidence, police said.

More than $3,000 worth of bets were phoned to the apartment in two hours, police said, and FBI agents accompanied the raiders as "observers."

One detective was treated for minor burns at Emergency Hospital and released.

Zimmer's address was listed as 530 Claremont Ave., Tonawanda. The apartment was at 272 Colvin Ave. in Buffalo.

Vols Schedule Open House in Bloomington
In observance of Fire Prevention Week, Bloomington Volunteer Fire Company will hold open house Saturday from 1 to 5 p.m.

The event, open to all residents of the fire district, will include ladder demonstrations, a smoke drill and the extinguishing of an oil fire. Films will be shown and refreshments will be available.

Bloomington Fire Chief Herb Faurte reminded area residents to check home heating systems as part of fire prevention, noting that dirty or defective heating equipment may present serious fire hazards with cold weather nearing.

A memorial service was held Sunday night at the United Reformed Church as part of the Fire Prevention Week.

Life Saving Classes Start Monday at YM

Junior and Senior Life Saving classes will start Monday 7 p.m. at the Kingston and Ulster County YMCA.

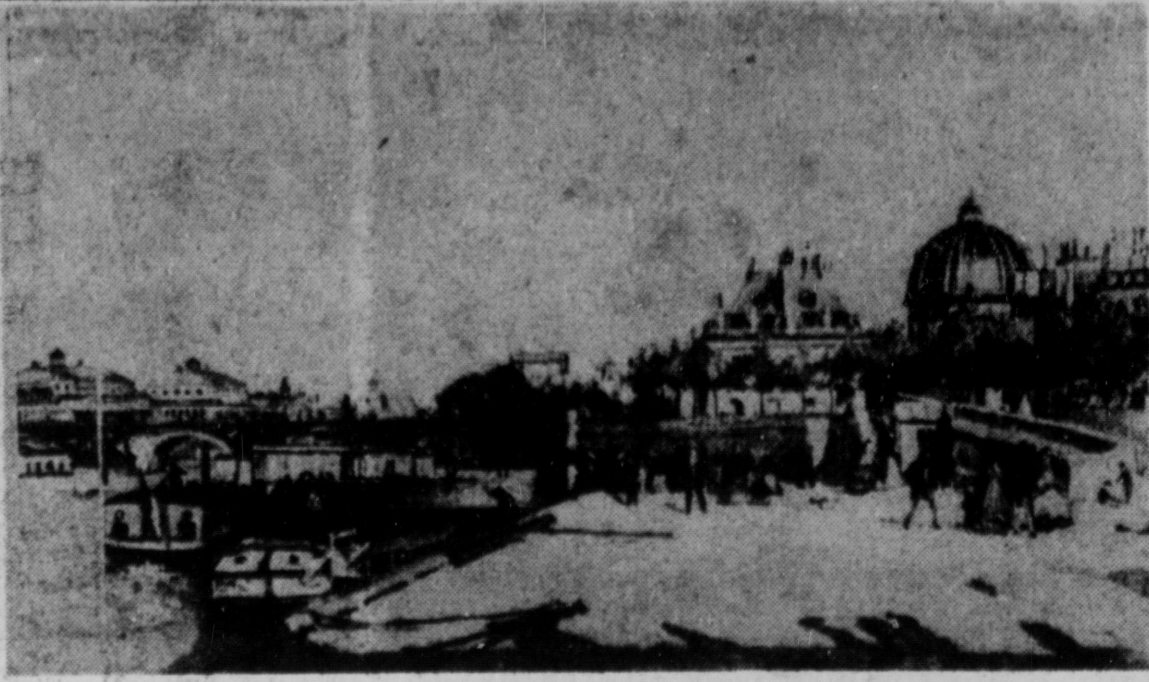

The class is open to all members who have reached the age of 12 for Junior Life Saving, and 15 for Senior Life Saving. Classes will be held weekly from 7 to 8:30 p.m. for a 10 week period. YMCA certification, as well as Red Cross Certificates, will be given to all who successfully complete the course.

Miss Christine Thurston, who attends Bard College, will be the instructor for the class. People interested may call the YMCA to register.

The YMCA is a member of the Community Chest of Ulster County.

Bad Check Charge

Kingston detectives arrested John V. Murray, 29, of Downs Street on a warrant charging him with issuing a fraudulent check Wednesday night. The case was scheduled before City Judge Hubert A. Richter.

PAINTING IS SOLD — Auguste Renoir's Impressionist painting "Le Pont des Arts, Paris," was sold at the Parke-Bernet Galleries in New York for the world auction record price of $15 million. The painting was bought by telephone from Los Angeles by California art collector and industrialist Norton Simon. The sale, topped by nearly $140,000 the record for Monet's "La Terrasse a Ste-Adresse," bought last year in London. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Lloyd's Center At Middletown Cost $5 Million

Lloyd's Shopping Center at Middletown is "bigger and better," said Edmund Lloyd, board chairman and chief executive officer of Lloyd's Shopping Centers Inc. He noted that the new center has 190,000 square feet of floor space including 70,000 square feet for offices, warehouse and preparation rooms. All departments occupy more space and feature a bigger selection of merchandise than ever before, Lloyd said.

Two new departments have been added, a pet shop stocked with live pets and pet supplies, and the knitting and sewing department stocked with a large selection of fabrics, knitting wools and sewing notions.

An outstanding feature is the new dining facilities open all week including Sunday. These include a four bay luncheonette, a family restaurant and cocktail lounge and accommodations for 392 diners. A feature of the produce department will be completely packaged fruits and vegetables, to save shoppers time and provide better sanitation.

All meats will be cut, trayed and wrapped at controlled temperatures designed to protect the quality of the meat.

The Lloyd building has Dunham-Bush heating and air conditioning throughout except in the warehouse, which is heated with reclaimed from the refrigeration system.

The new Lloyd's Shopping Center represents an investment of approximately $5 million — $2.4 million for building, land improvements and equipment, and $1 million for fixtures plus $1.5 million in inventory.

Shoppers will be served by 250 full time personnel and 250 part-time workers.

The conestoga wagon is well known but some others that closely resembled it are the "Chattanooga," "Carson" and the "Studebaker" wagons.

Report Breakthrough On Pueblo's Release

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — U.S. and North Korean negotiators met at Panmunjom today for the second straight day and a substantial breakthrough was in the making on the release of the crew of the USS Pueblo, intelligence sources said.

U.S. officials refused to comment on the report. The sources declined to elaborate on what they meant as a breakthrough. At the same time, the South Korean newspaper Kyunghyang Shinmun quoted informed sources as saying the 82 Pueblo crewmen, held in North Korea since the ship's capture Jan. 23, talk was held Sept. 30. Kyunghyang also said Maj. Gen. Gilbert Woodward, U.S. representative at the private talks, personally has toured a U.S. military hospital near Seoul and the Osan U.S. air base to inspect preparations for receiving the Pueblo crew. The paper said Woodward made the inspection after he returned from the Wednesday meeting at Panmunjom.

No Security Link

BONN, Germany (AP) — The suicide of Maj. Gen. Horst Wendland, deputy chief of West Germany's secret federal intelligence service, was not connected with security matters, government sources said Wednesday night.

Wendland, 56, shot himself in his office near Munich Tuesday. The sources said he was suffering from an "incurable depressive illness." Because of the nature of the agency's work, there was no formal announcement of his death from the government.

A Sumptuous Oven Dinner for Winter

Of all the meats identified with winter, none is more closely associated with cold weather than pork.

Stuffed pork chops may be served to usher in the first crisp day or reserved for company dinner on a blustery night.

They're good any time and may be baked a number of ways.

Your butcher would gladly put a stuffing pocket in double-cut chops. But it's probably easier and more economical to select single chops and skewer them side by side with the stuffing in between.

By starting with one of the cellophane packaged mixes—herb seasoned, corn bread or cube stuffing—and adding your own personal touches, you can come up with a slightly different taste treat every time.

In the recipe below, we've used apples and raisins with the herb seasoned cube stuffing.

Acorn squash could be baked at the same oven temperature as the chops and filled with cube stuffing—just before serving.

Coleslaw salad would provide a tangy flavor contrast. For dessert try the new pineapple cheese strudel, now in the freezer compartment of most stores.

Stuffed Pork Chops

8 loin pork chops
1 package (7 oz.) herb seasoned cube stuffing
1 cup water
¼ lb. butter or margarine
1½ cups unpeeled, diced apples
½ cup seedless raisins
½ teaspoon sage

Brown chops lightly in hot fat. Remove from skillet and drain excess fat. Add water and butter to drippings in skillet. Stir in stuffing, fruit and sage.

Place a chop, fat edge up, at end of baking pan. Alternate chops and stuffing. Skewer together. Bake at 325° F. 1 hour, or until done. Serves 6 to 8.

Squash, Glazed Onions

4 acorn squash
1 lb. small white onions
6 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons sugar

Wash squash; cut in half; remove seeds. Bake cut side down in 325° oven 30 minutes; turn and continue baking 30 minutes.

Meantime, cook small white onions in water to cover until tender; drain. Melt butter and sugar in heavy skillet; add onions and cook over low heat 15 minutes or until golden brown, stirring occasionally. Serve in baked squash. Serves 8.

Strudel, Tropical Topping

2 packages (13 oz.) frozen pineapple cheese strudel
½ pint sour cream
2 tablespoons light brown sugar
½ cup crushed pineapple, drained

Bake strudels according to package directions. Stir brown sugar into sour cream; fold in pineapple. Pile lightly into serving bowl; sprinkle with nutmeg. Serves 8.

STUFFED PORK CHOPS — Stuffing-layered pork chops, surrounded by baked acorn squash, take the chill out of winter meals.

Holiday Shop, Shawangunk Club Project, Will Open Soon for Holiday Season

The Holiday Shop, an annual project of the Shawangunk Garden Club of Ellenville, will open its doors from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on October 24 and 25 for the sale of unusual and decorative items for the fall and winter holiday season.

The shop will be located in the red barn belonging to Mrs. Guy Davenport at the corner of Market and Elm Streets in Ellenville.

Garden Club members have been working for many months on individual and group projects with which to stock the shop. Proceeds from the sales will benefit the Hospital Planting Fund and the Civic Improvement Fund.

For many years, the Garden Club has undertaken the planting at the old Veterans' Memorial Hospital, and began building up funds for the present Ellenville Community Hospital landscaping as soon as it became known that the area was to have a new medical facility. All basic landscaping has already been completed at the hospital, done solely by the Garden Club with the technical assistance of Valley Gardens of Accord. Following a master plan, further planting will be done over the years. The Holiday Shop came into being as a means of raising the necessary funds for this community project.

Proceeds from shop sales will also go toward civic improvements within the village, such as the maintenance of Liberty Square and projected beautification measures under urban renewal.

Mrs. Alton B. Hourin is general chairman for the shop. Committee chairmen include: Mrs. Maurice Roberts, hostesses; Mrs. A. Dean Van Etten, tea table; Mrs. Arthur Green, staging; Mrs. James Barthel, posters; and Mrs. DeWitt Clinton, publicity. Most of the planning has been done with the aid of the executive board of the Shawangunk Garden Club, chaired by Mrs. Robert Kuhlmann.

The public is invited to the Holiday Shop on October 24 and 25. Refreshments will be served.

Weddings Announced Recently

MRS. HUGH REYNOLDS

Miss Barbara Carol Rimal, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Theodore M. Rimal of 38 South Hamilton Street, Poughkeepsie, became the bride of Hugh Donald Reynolds of 89-A Fairmont Avenue, Kingston, son of Mrs. Francis X. Shaw of 26 Holmes Street, Poughkeepsie, on Sunday, Sept. 29, at the Governor Clinton Hotel, this city.

Judge Hubert A. Richter performed the double ring ceremony. James Sweeney provided traditional wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess style gown of taffeta and lace. Her tulle veil was shirred to a crown of pearls and crystals and she carried a cascade of baby white carnations and stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Miss Lynn Gilbert of New York was maid of honor. She wore a pink crepe floor-length gown and carried a nosegay of pale pink and gold chrysanthemums.

Attendants were the Misses Judy Rimal of Washington, D. C., Lois Rimal of Poughkeepsie, both sisters of the bride; Carolyn Norton and Susan Asquith, both of Philadelphia, Pa.

They wore gold shantung floor length gowns in the A-line fashion and carried nosegays of gold and rust chrysanthemums.

William T. Reynolds of Milton was best man for his brother. Ushers were Joseph Spada, Stanley Petro Jr., James Thompson, all of Kingston, and Robert Gillen of St. Remy.

After the wedding a reception for 125 guests was held at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

For her wedding trip to Montreal, Canada, the bride selected a brown and white coat and dress ensemble with brown patent leather accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Poughkeepsie High School and attended the University of Buffalo. She is employed by the Moss Rehabilitation Hospital in Philadelphia, Pa., as an occupational therapy assistant.

Her husband, an alumnus of Poughkeepsie High School, attended Marist College and served in the U.S. Navy. He is a member of the American Legion and American Newspaper Guild, Kingston Unit 180, and is employed as City Hall reporter by the Kingston Daily Freeman.

The couple will reside at 89-A Fairmont Avenue, this city.

MRS. BRUCE F. WATSON

Miss Tina M. Tardiff, daughter of Mrs. E. J. LaSalle, Nashua, N. H., became the bride of Bruce F. Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Watson, Shokan, on September 28, at Our Lady of Mercy Church.

The Rev. T. Joseph McDonough officiated at the double ring ceremony. Marco McHugh, Boston, Mass., organist, provided traditional wedding selections. Arrangements of gladioli and ivy decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her step-father, Ernest LaSalle, the bride selected a white peau de soie gown, accented with appliques of alencon lace on English net overall. The gown was styled with a portrait neckline accented with peau de soie, an empire waistline, A-line skirt and horn sleeves. A matching lace open-top pillbox held her bouffant veil of imported silk illusion and she carried a single tapered red rose.

Miss Norma Vozzella, Cambridge, Mass., served as maid of honor. She wore a floor-length, sleeveless gown in oriental emerald with a rolled collar neckline. The princess A-line back was accented with small bows. Peek-a-boo bows in matching shades held her pouff veil and she carried a bouquet of white roses and ivy.

Barry Kappel, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Shokan, was best man. Herbert Sweet, Kingston, was an usher.

After the wedding a reception was held at Berkshire Inn, Nashua, N.H.

For her wedding trip to Montreal, the bride chose a brown check wool suit with matching hat and brown accessories. She wore a chrysanthemum corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Mt. St. Mary Seminary and Mt. St. Mary College-Sacred Heart School of Nursing. Her husband is an alumnus of Onondaga High School. He is self-employed as a free lance stone engraver and is a member of the 156 Field Artillery, N.Y. State National Guard.

The couple will reside at John Street, West Hurley.

New Paltz Students Receive Letters Of Commendation

Letters of Commendation honoring them for their high performance of the 1968 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test have been awarded to five students at New Paltz High School, Principal John L. Wyman has announced.

Those named Commended students are Florence Babb, daughter of Mrs. Marjorie Babb of 39 Center Street, New Paltz; William Bond, son of Dr. and Mrs. George W. Bond of 3 Julia Avenue, New Paltz; Colleen Kenyon, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Kenyon of 10 Lookout Avenue, New Paltz; Linda Mazur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Mazur of 18 Harrington Street, New Paltz; and Marjorie Munsterberg, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Hugo Munsterberg of 48 Elting Avenue, New Paltz.

They are among 39,000 students in the United States who scored in the upper two per cent of those who will graduate from high school in 1969. The Commended students rank just below the 15,000 Semifinalists announced in September by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

John M. Stalnaker, president of NMSC, said: "Although Commended students advance no further in the Merit Scholarship competition, their outstanding record in a nationwide program deserves public recognition. Their significant academic attainment gives promise of continued success in college."

Putnam, are represented by community leaders interested in this vital field of education.

Because of the major changes which are occurring in the types of nursing education programs, it cannot be left to chance that the full number of nurses with the appropriate level of education will be produced. In keeping with the New York State Nurses' Association Blueprint for Nursing Education, District 11, 12 and 14 have joined their efforts to carry out the orderly transfer of all programs in their areas which prepare practitioners of nursing. Such transfers involve at least affiliation with institutions of higher learning.

The nursing profession is the victim of rapid changes in health care. The need for qualified and certified nurses becomes greater as patients demand more and better health services. The next ten years will be most crucial because the demand for nurses will require greater effort by the community to help provide the facilities to prepare nurses. Under the guidance and leadership of the Community Planning Group, area resources will be channeled into a new design for the education of nursing personnel so that the current and anticipated needs of Mid-Hudson area can be met.

Attending the recent meeting of the Community Planning Group for Nursing Education were: Miss Rosemary Pellegrino, Director of Nursing Service of Kingston Hospital; Mrs. Marguerite M. Mahoney, chairman of the group; and Anthony Trulzi, Administrator of Kingston Hospital.

Members of the Community Planning Group for Nursing Education include such leaders as: Dr. W. Wendall Hoover, Superintendent of Schools for Kingston; Dr. John A. Olivet, Medical Director of Benedictine Hospital; Sister Gabrielle, Director of Inservice Education of Benedictine Hospital; and H. Clark Bell, Attorney and candidate for State Assembly.

Box Supper Held

The first social event of the year for Eta Eta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority was a box supper at the home of Mrs. Raymond Swierski, Cherry Hill, Kingston.

A program on "Self Analysis" by Mrs. Raymond Swierski was featured at a recent business meeting of Eta Eta Chapter. Business discussed at the meeting held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Meyers, Hurley, included fund raising and service projects planned for the year.

A bake sale is planned for November 13 at the Kingston Plaza, Grand Union Supermarket.

On November 12 Herbert K. Greenwald of the Greenwald Travel Agency will present a program and show slides of Bermuda and Nassau at the home of Mrs. Roy Gonyea, Cherry Hill, Kingston.

Statewide Teenage Conference Held at Colonie High School

More than 1,000 teenagers, businessmen and educators from all over New York State gathered at Colonie Central High School in Albany on Saturday, Oct. 5, for the first Statewide Teenage Consumer Conference. Sponsored by the New York State Commerce Department Woman's Program in cooperation with the Home Economics Education Bureau of the New York State Education Department, the conference featured workshops where teens, teachers and businessmen discussed consumer information for teenagers.

Miss Laura Ehmman, Chief of the Bureau of Home Economics Education, presided over the morning session, which began at 10 a. m. Henry Germond, Director of Secondary Education, Colonial Central High School, welcomed the audience. Greetings from the Governor's Office were brought by Claude Shostal, program assistant, Executive Chamber, the Capitol. "Business, Education, Teens—A Good Bet" was the topic of Neal L. Moylan, First Deputy Commissioner. New York State Commerce Department, who pointed out that the purpose of the conference was not so much to educate the teenagers attending, as to learn from them.

Workshops began at 10:30. The six topics covered included: Fashion, Food, Futures, Finance, Recreation Products, and You and Your Wheels. Each workshop was conducted by a student discussion leader, with the assistance of a teacher.

Students from local high schools modeled the clothing, and the Revolutions, a combo from Colonie Central High School, provided music. Miss Pat Sadowsky, Senior Merchandise Coordinator at SEVENTEEN, was commentator.

Allan France, Mt. Pleasant High School, discussing "Where Do We Go From Here?", emphasized that the assembly was not an end, but a beginning. Evaluation sheets will be filled out by all attending, so that the final results may be of use to schools, businesses, and organizations throughout New York State.

Refreshments were contributed by the Coca-Cola Bottling Company and the Nestle Company.

The New York State Commerce Department Woman's Program held seven teenage consumer assemblies throughout the state and several more are planned for the future. Offices of the Woman's Program are located at 112 State Street, Albany, and 230 Park Avenue, New York City.

Soloists Named for Catskill Glee Club's Program of Sacred and Secular Music

A program of sacred and secular music will be presented by the Catskill Glee Club on Monday, Oct. 14, at 8:15 p. m. in the sanctuary of the Round Presbyterian Church, Wurts and Spring Streets.

It has been announced that John A. McCullough of Kingston, Walton McClure of Cornwallville, and Nelson G. Burhans of West Camp, will be featured soloists.

The club, under the direction of Donald S. Fellows of Saugerties, is one of the oldest volunteer singing organizations in New York State. The chorus, composed of approximately 40 men, is in considerable demand for concerts throughout eastern New York and western New England. On Sunday the club appeared on the program for the Chrysanthemum Festival at Saugerties' Seamon Park. Barbara Sparks, also of Saugerties, is accompanist.

McCullough, who is an architect by profession, is a member and director of the quartet at Mohawk-Hudson Male Chorus Association, Oratorio Society of Kingston, Yankee Male Chorus, Appollo Club of Middletown, Manufacturers Chorus of Bridgeport, and has been guest soloist at concerts given by the Treble Choraliers, Lyric Chorists, and women's choruses of Catskill, Hudson and Kingston. He is also the writer and director of this fall's production of "Kiwani's Kapers."

Walton McClure, baritone soloist, has appeared with many groups as a string bass player as well as a singer. While a resident in Florida, he appeared as a soloist with the Tampa Symphonic Choir, the Greater Miami Choral Society and was a regular soloist in the Central Baptist Church of Miami. Since coming to Greene County, he has done extensive solo work with various groups in the area. He is particularly well-known for his interpretation of art songs.

Nelson G. Burhans, baritone, is a member of Phi Mu Sigma, national song leader for Tau Kappa Epsilon, collegiate fraternity. A soloist with the Catskill Glee Club for many years, he also has done solo work for various churches in the Hudson Valley. Kingston Hospital Auxiliary Plans 75th Anniversary Here

Members of the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary, second oldest in the state, will be honored at its 75th anniversary with a luncheon given by the Board of Trustees of Kingston Hospital on Tuesday, Oct. 15, at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Mrs. John F. O'Neill of Poughkeepsie, a past chairman of the Committee on Hospital Auxiliaries of New York State, will be the speaker. Mrs. O'Neill, who has 10 years experience as an active volunteer at St. Francis Hospital in Poughkeepsie and is a past president of the Auxiliary, currently is advisor to the Hospital Auxiliaries and is a member of the National Board of Directors of the Girl Scouts of the USA. She has served as Middle Atlantic program chairman for hospital auxiliaries. A native of London, England, Mrs. O'Neill received her BA with honors and MA from the University of Oxford. Also attending Tuesday's luncheon will be Mrs. Charles Herbermann, executive member of the Committee on Hospital Auxiliaries of New York State and chairman of auxiliaries of South-Eastern Regional District.

Mrs. John N. Cordts, oldest living member of the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary, will be honored and will be presented with a plant. She will be represented by her daughter, Miss Florence Cordts.

Mrs. Harold Finkle, president of the Auxiliary, will accept a plaque to be presented by the Board in recognition of the Auxiliary's 75 years of dedicated volunteer work. The Auxiliary was organized in 1894 as the Ladies Aid Society.

Wilbur R. Peters, president of the Kingston Hospital Board of Trustees, will be the master of ceremonies and will welcome those attending the luncheon. Other program participants and guests include the Rev. Harry Robinson, minister of St. James' Methodist Church; Dr. Alfred Harder, president of the Medical Staff of the Hospital; Raymond W. Garraghan, mayor, and Anthony R. Triulzi, hospital administrator.

The Auxiliary, with a present membership of approximately 450 is an active group of volunteers whose purpose is to provide service to the hospital and its patients. Among these services are desk service, assistance to visitors and patient escort service, clerical work and religious file maintenance, mail and flower delivery, sales cart, gift shop and snack bar, baby photo service, Candy Stripe program for teenagers, hospital decorating at Christmas time, and Good Cheer patient program. The auxiliary training for its members as well as holding important and informative meetings.

Luncheon attendance is by advance reservation and Auxiliary members are urged to return their reservation cards immediately, according to Mrs. Finkle.

Bazaar, Food Sale Scheduled Here Wednesday, Oct. 16

The ladies organization of the First Presbyterian Church, Elmendorf Street, have chosen Wednesday, Oct. 16, as the date of their fall bazaar and food sale, to be held in Ramsey Hall from 9 a.m. to 7:30 p.m.

The bazaar will feature handmade articles and other new articles, some brought from St. Thomas Island for this sale, also various fine new and secondhand jewelry, as well as a few antiques. The event affords an opportunity to select Christmas gifts; a table of surprise packages for children will be available.

There will be an unusual assortment of good secondhand articles on the miscellaneous tables, including a collection of unique modern and old framed pictures.

The food booth will offer a tempting assortment of homemade breads, breakfast foods, cakes, cookies, pies, jellies, candy, all made by the ladies of the church.

Meeting Held

St. Joseph's Altar Rosary Society held its first regular meeting of the new year on Monday evening, Sept. 16, at the new school, Wall and Pearl Streets. Mrs. Emma Aprea, president, presided.

Guest speaker was the Rev. Father Lopo of India who presented an interesting and informative discussion on various topics.

A cake sale was held recently after all the Sunday masses.

Plans were formulated for a membership drive in October. All new members will be enrolled at the next meeting on Monday evening, Oct. 21. Refreshments will be served.

A day of recollection at Mr. Alvernia in Wappingers Falls took place on Sunday, Oct. 6, with 27 members in attendance. Members were transported by bus which left St. Joseph's school at 9 and returned at 6.

A bus trip to New York City in on the agenda for December. Exact date and time will be announced.

Wade from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Nothing is more irritating to a hostess than carrying a serving tray in to her guests and the glasses or dishes slide. I've found the solution for this. When you're using a metal tray on which glasses slide easily, first sprinkle the tray slightly with water. Then lay a paper towel (preferably the ones with a pretty border) in the center of the tray.

The wet tray holds the towel in place and you will find that glasses won't slide around at all.

Family Celebrates Special Events

Wedding anniversaries and a birthday were celebrated at a family gathering in Leher's Restaurant on Sunday, Oct. 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon D. Clinton of Walden celebrated their golden anniversary on September 29. Mr. Clinton's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Wright of Oyster Bay, L. I., had their 26th anniversary September 19. Both couples were married at Old Dutch Church, Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Raymond Clinton of Newark, N. J., celebrated his birthday September 22.

Unable to attend were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Clinton of Hialeah, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. George S. Clinton of Hicksville, L. I., all sons of the late Charles D. Clinton of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Pallen of Walden celebrated their 27th wedding anniversary September 7. Their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Ronk of Middletown, were married one year on September 16.

Others attending the group celebration were Wade Ackerman, an uncle; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Roach of Kingston, an uncle and aunt.

PAW to Hold 5th Open House Oct. 12

It will be Performing Arts of Woodstock's fifth annual open house, upstairs at Deanie's, this Saturday evening, at 8:30 o'clock.

A rehearsed reading of a one act play, by the leading playwright of modern Poland, Slawomir Mrozek, will be the highlight of this year's open house. Slawomir Mrozek, at 37, has recently emerged as one of Europe's major new dramatists with the international success of his full length play, TANGO, in its London, Paris, Dusseldorf, and Warsaw productions. A quote from a critic: "In his one act plays, as in all of Mrozek's work, perfect logic is rigorously applied to illogical ends. In CHARLIE, an occultist is asked to fit an old man with glasses to help him shoot the man he wants to murder. Mrozek shows himself to be an undisputed master of the grotesque, a sharp parodist of politics."

CHARLIE, directed by Edith LeFever, will be read by Volney Crosswell, Larry Cox, and Gary Miller.

Members, friends, and anyone interested in Performing Arts of Woodstock, are welcome at PAW's open house. There is no admittance charge. Refreshments will be served.

National Y-Teen Week Proclaimed

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan has signed a proclamation designation the week of October 6 through 12 National Y-Teen Week. Principals in attendance at the signing included Roger Edwards, Cellar Club board member; Pat James, Tri-Hi; Dina Medley, Tri-Hi.

On Sunday, Oct. 6, Tri-Hi and Saugerties Clubs held a tea for the YMCA Board of Directors and staff. Today the Tri-Hi and Rondout clubs will hold an open house at the YWCA, 209 Clinton Avenue, immediately after school. All girls attending seventh, eighth or ninth grade are invited to attend.

Youth activities are an important part of YMCA program which is made possible by contributions to Ulster County Community Chest.

In proclaiming this week National Y-Teen week, the mayor stated, because of "their rapidly growing numbers and their increasing articulate activity, our society is growing more aware of their importance and their needs in today's world. One of their most vital needs is opportunity to express themselves in programs which help them realize their best potentials. The Young Women's Christian Association through its Y-Teen work offers such a program in which young people, whatever their background, can grow in mind, body and spirit to fulfill their best promise."

NEW MATERIAL

Fake leather is an intriguing new material being used in the men's fashion arena. Made of husky cotton coated with a plastic material, it has the appearance and "hand" of fine leather when made into apparel. It is inexpensive, breathable, crack and stain-resistant, and—most importantly—it is entirely washable in soaps or detergent suds.

Mexican Officials Recant

No Shoes? 'A Terrible Misunderstanding'

By JOE SARGIS
UPI Sports Writer

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Embarrassed Mexican officials ended the two-day Olympic "shoe" controversy today and offered protesting athletes a way of getting the shoes they want for the games.

A spokesman for the Treasury Department, which controls the entry of imports into the country, termed the whole thing "a terrible misunderstanding" and said the Customs Department was "prepared to cooperate in any way with the Olympic athletes."

The whole controversy centered around a shipment of 2,500 running shoes held in custody since last Thursday. The shoes came to Mexico from a West German manufacturer and were to be given to athletes competing in the Olympic Games.

The shipment was held up—and still is—because the Mexican government had signed an exclusive contract with another

West German manufacturer. The move in effect left nearly half of the track and field athletes with shoes they didn't care to use. The shipment in custody contained orders filled months ago.

John Carlos and Lee Evans, American world record holders, blew the lid on the "big shoe" controversy on Tuesday and went so far as to say they might not compete in the games if they didn't get the shoes they wanted.

Derek Ibbotson, former British mile world record holder and now an aide with his nation's track and field team, took the issue from there and had some 100 athletes from many nations ready to stage a protest demonstration at the airport today in an effort to obtain a release for the shoes in question.

"We're terribly embarrassed by the whole situation," said the Treasury Department official. "The shoes can be released if the Olympic Organizing Committee requests it of us. That is how the law is governed."

Raymond Cuervo, general

coordinator for the Foreign press, took a different tack. He dispatched a courier to the United States to bring back any shoe requested of him.

"The committee considers this problem one of very poor planning on the part of the athletes in question," said Cuervo, "but the committee is sympathetic to the problem. As a result, the committee has dispatched a special courier to the United States to buy and return to Mexico with any and all track shoes requested by the athletes."

"The committee has met with officials of all the teams involved and has taken orders for shoes. Any athlete who feels that he may need any other shoes not now available in Mexico should immediately have his Chief of Mission contact the Organizing Committee."

tee to get his order in. The courier will purchase any brand of shoes requested and in any amounts."

Cuervo and his committee could have solved the problem of the shoes at the airport—a far more expedient move—but chose to take the tack he did. Because the shoes technically were brought into the country illegally under Mexican law.

Some West German athletes actually made a crack earlier when they went to the airport, requested four pairs of shoes from the shipment there and saw their request filled. When Ibbotson and a member of the British team tried the same maneuver they were told to come back another day.

The shoe controversy overshadowed more important matters but the Mexican Organizing Committee still had one more complaint to handle—one by the 20 officials assigned to handle the boxing program during the games who announced they would walk out if they weren't given tickets to Saturday's opening ceremonies.

Meanwhile, Avery Brundage, 81-year-old Chicago millionaire who has served as president of the International Olympic Committee since 1952 was nominated for another four year term. Named to run against him is count Jean De Beaumont of France. The election is on today's schedule of the 67th session of the IOC.

Athletes continued to work out all over town as the days dwindled down to the starting gun. On Sunday, the big show gets underway with competition in track and field, basketball, boxing, modern pentathlon, rowing, soccer, volleyball and weight lifting.

THE PITCHER — It was a long time coming, but 31-game winner Denny McLain finally came through for the Detroit Tigers in the World Series. After facing Cardinal ace Bob Gibson the first two times, McLain gained a respite yesterday against Ray Washburn and a cast of thousands. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Denny Does It; 'Humiliation'

By MILTON RICHMAN

UPI Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The Detroit Tigers could have poured it on and rubbed it in—but they declined.

They felt there was no purpose to it and from the general way they talked after their lopsided 13-1 crusher they would've been equally satisfied with a one run victory although none have forgotten that the Cardinals handed them a 10-1 walloping in Sunday's fourth game at Detroit.

"There's no use trying to embarrass a human being in front of millions," said Norm Cash. "That certainly wasn't our purpose. You got a team beat, that's enough. Why try to punish anyone needlessly?"

Denny McLain felt exactly the same way.

"Definitely not," said Detroit's winning pitcher when asked whether he was trying in any way to humiliate the Cardinals.

"I don't deny I said something about wanting to humiliate them right after we clinched the pennant," he explained. "I was not misquoted. Remember, though, I had two-and-a-half bottles of champagne in me at the time. That makes a little difference, believe me."

This is an unusual World Series in more than one sense. There's no bad blood between the Tigers and Cards such as there was between the Red Sox and Red Schoendienst's crew a year ago nor has there been so much as one word of bench jockeying between the Detroit and St. Louis players this series.

"Oh, I think we felt we owed them a little after Sunday's game but we weren't trying to make them look like fools," said Mickey Stanley regarding Wednesday's rout.

Jim Northrup, whose grand slam homer was the big noise in a record-equalling 10-run third inning, thought the same way as his locker room neighbor, Stanley.

"We just wanted to win," he said. "We weren't trying to pile it on. What for? As a matter of fact I was just looking to hit a sacrifice fly in the third inning."

The thought of a homer with the bases full crossed my mind while I was in the batter's circle but I was only looking to get the run home from third base. Honest."

Dick McAuliffe, Detroit's scrappy second baseman, was among those who felt the Tigers could have scored more runs had they set their mind to it. "I think we could have but we didn't," he said. "Sometimes, I suppose, it's not a bad idea to score as much as you can but we weren't particularly interested in doing that against St. Louis. We're not a dog-eat-dog ball club."

Because the Tigers are like any other ball club, however, meaning they get to feeling a little frivolous with a 13-run lead, they did talk momentarily in the dugout Monday about maybe stealing a base or two.

"We all remember how (Lou) Brock stole third base in Sunday's game," said veteran Eddie Mathews. "Not that we hold it against him or blame him because we realize he was going for a record, but we remember it."

"Anyway, there was some talk about how they rubbed our noses a little bit and maybe some of us ought to steal a base and return the favor, but the whole thing was forgotten in a hurry."

"We just said, 'aw, Balzac, let's be major leaguers and play the game right.'"

And that the Tigers did.

AND THE POWER — Jim Northrup accounted for the middle part of the Tigers' 10-run third inning yesterday with a grand slam home run. It was the 11th grand slammer in Series history and the fourth for Northrup this year. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Gibson vs Lolich

By ED SAINSBURY

UPI Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Denny McLain finally "demolished" the St. Louis Cardinals—with the help of Jim Northrup, Al Kaline and assorted Detroit Tigers—so the World Series went to the final seventh game today.

It could be the standout clash of an otherwise undistinguished series, since it will match the only starting pitchers in the event who have not been beaten at least once.

Bob Gibson, the first and fourth game winner, will start for the Cardinals, and left hander Mickey Lolich, the second and fifth game victor, for the Tigers.

Equally important, the weather prospect was favorable with "considerable sunshine" expected along with 60-degree temperatures. Wednesday, for the second time in the series, rain delayed the start of the game for 10 minutes and there was another 49 minute delay in the bottom of the eighth inning.

The eighth inning delay chased most of the crowd of 54,692 under the stands or out of the park, and less than 10,000 of them came back to their seats to watch McLain yield St. Louis' only run during the 13-1 lacing on three ninth inning singles.

With the expected good weather conditions, Gibson and Lolich could put on a brilliant pitching display. Gibson boasts a series earned run average of 0.50, yielding 10 hits and one run in 18 innings, while Lolich has a 2.00 ERA on four runs in 18 frames.

Cards Manager Red Schoendienst promptly announced after Wednesday's debacle that his longtime star already marked for retirement, Roger Maris, would start the game, although he usually rides the bench against left handers.

Maris said he had trouble hitting Lolich in the American League. Schoendienst reported, "but I told him 'forget about that. This is different.'"

Lolich will be the third pitcher in five years to try to win the series in the seventh game after only two days rest, a feat performed by Gibson in 1964 and by Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1965. There was one loser in the same situation, Jim Lonborg of the Boston Red Sox against the Cards last year.

The Cardinals today will have history going with them since it will be their seventh time in a seven-game World Series and never have they lost in such an encounter. But Detroit has the momentum with two straight wins, duplicating the feat of Boston last year when the Red Sox won the fifth and sixth games to produce a 3-3 deadlock in games before losing the seventh one.

Only twice previously has a team wiped out a 3-1 deficit in games to win the series, the 1925 Washington Senators and the 1958 New York Yankees.

Probably the Tigers' performance Wednesday had as much to do with the speedy departure of the fans as the rain game after only two days rest, packed everything into their third inning assault, 15 men at bat and 10 runs to tie two World Series records set in the series' fourth game on Oct. 12, 1929, when the Philadelphia Athletics scored 10 times to wipe out the Chicago Cubs 10-8.

Duso Opener

KHS Readies for Port

By DENNIS R. CARO
(Freeman Sports Staff)

An enigma, wrapped in a mystery, shrouded in a mystery. The Kingston High School football team is such an enigma. "What happened to the team that slaughtered Vincennes Institute 44-0?" cry the bewildered fans. "What happened to the team that walked all over powerful Linton High School while managing to make enough miscues to lose the game?"

In other words, "What the heck happened up at Johnstown?" The Maroon took a 40-6 loss on the nose, that's what happened. Why is sort of a long story.

Way back when the Maroon had their first scrimmage of the year, against Arlington, coach Frank Modica said "they didn't hit," and he was going to do something about it. And do he did.

Kingston was much improved against Arlington the second time around, and very much improved against Vincennes in the season opener. The Maroon backed a little against Linton and then spent the whole afternoon on their backs at Johnstown.

Johnstown. There once was a girl, a pretty little girl, with a curl in the middle of her forehead. And when she was good, she was very, very good and when she was bad — forget it.

"They didn't hit," Modica said the other day, and as a result the Maroons are playing contact all this week. And as a result tackle John Rosebroor is out with a concussion and Ray Rhodes has a broken arm.

At least they hit in practice. They do a lot of things in practice, like kick off, but that's another story. And to judge by the kickoff yardage Kingston has averaged not a very long one at that.

The other side of the Kingston coin is the DUSO league. As far as football is concerned, the "D" left with Poughkeepsie three years ago, and the "S" hasn't been there since the 1930's, when Monticello fielded a team.

Kingston, Newburgh, Middletown and Port Jervis make up the DUSO football league. Three league games out of a seven or eight game schedule.

A winning attitude is an essential part of a winning team, and when there are too many games on the schedule that "don't really count" its

And when a team isn't up for a game, its chances of winning decrease slightly faster than the inverse square.

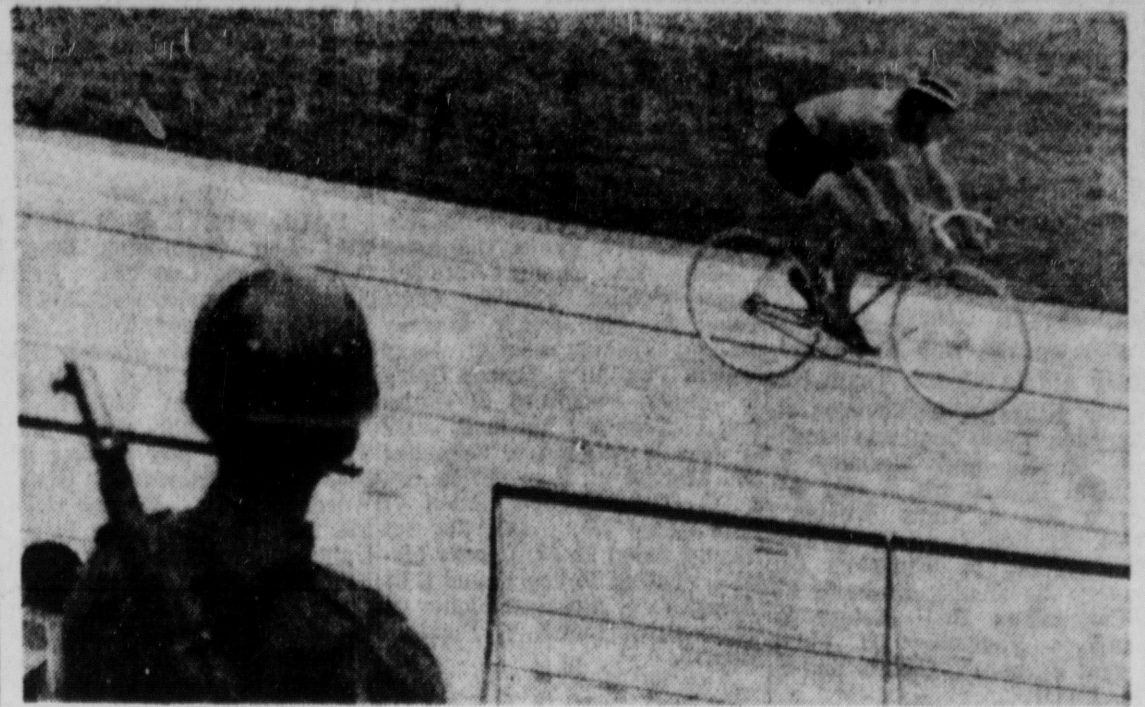

Johnstown was the third non-league opponent in a row for Modica's Maroons, and they were undoubtedly looking ahead to their U-O opener with Port Jervis this Saturday. It didn't help them any against the Sir Bills, and its not likely to help them against Port, either.

Port Jervis is strong this year, losing only quarterback Bill Gastmeyer and two ends through graduation. The ends don't matter because sophomore quarterback Earl Sheard doesn't throw the ball very well, but the five returning vets in the middle of the line matter very much.

Port's game is on the ground, with a very tough defense to get the ball in scoring position. "They come at you," Modica said, "and they're very well coached. (Joe Viglione is a 14 year veteran.) If we don't do anything more than we did against Johnstown, we're going to come out with the same result."

And if the Maroon decide to play the doormat of the DUSO league again with the potential they have, there are going to be a lot of dissatisfied fans in the Kingston area.

But as Frank says, "you don't win games with potential."

THE WATCHFUL EYE OF ARMS — 1968 is liable to be the year of the most controversial set of Olympic Games ever held, with the beefs about discrimination, high altitude training, and shoes heading the list. The background of Mexico's student revolution is perfect. Some of the athletes, this cyclist for example, cannot even be safe practicing without an armed guard. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

SSU Hawks Down ESS 4-3 As Hippy Tallies Two

By DENNIS R. CARO
(Freeman Sports Staff)

NEW PALTZ — A lot of athletes need medication of some sort after a game, but Bobby Durkin, who runs that State University soccer squad at New Paltz is one of the few coaches who fall in that category.

He runs up and down the sidelines and literally screams at himself hoarse yelling advice to his players. But some of them manage to do what they want to anyway.

The Hawk beat East Stroudsburg 4-3 yesterday in a game that wasn't really that close. Stroudsburg scored two goals in the final minutes of the game, but New Paltz was pretty much a substitute squad.

But the first half was beautiful. The Warriors are defending champs in the Pennsylvania State Teachers Conference, as well as Durkin's alma mater (class of 1954) and they played a good ballgame all the way.

A four fullback defense, all of them very fast and very quick held the Hawks in check throughout the first period, with both teams getting seven shots on goal.

The second period was all New Paltz, and there really wasn't very much the Warriors could do about it. They were completely outclassed.

With 10:22 gone, outside left Abdi Yumis grabbed a rebound in front of goalie Marty Rivard and put it past him so fast he didn't even have a chance to make a move.

Four minutes later, Bobby Hippy, with his back to the goal, took a perfect crossing pass from Clement Mbadinju and blasted it by a startled Rivard without even bothering to turn around.

Five minutes after that, Hippy and Mbadinju combined on exact repeat.

It's very hard for a goalie to believe something like that can happen once, let alone twice, but there seem to be very few things that Hippy cannot do on a soccer field.

One of them, however, is play center halfback, which he decided to do in the second half.

Durkin let him because with a three goal lead you want to keep the ball on the other side of the field from your goalie and Hippy has one of the strongest kicks on the team.

But there are a lot of other things a center halfback has to do besides kick the ball, and yesterday Hippy didn't do any of them very well.

The quality of the game quietly deteriorated.

With 16:40 in the third period, Steve Hess took a pretty lead pass from Jim Huhillan and slammed it past New Paltz goalie Aldo Forte for Stroudsburg's first tally.

Forte is another one of Durkin's problems. Although his reflexes are more than adequate, at five foot eight he doesn't have to reach a goalie's shoulder. And he doesn't have the concentration.

"Get rid of the ball, Aldo," Durkin screams as Forte plays games around the goal mouth. Aldo is a converted forward, and it seems he gets lonesome for the ball when the Hawks put on a sustained drive down the other end.

So when he get it on a save, he likes to hold onto it for a while. He bounces and juggles the ball through the opposing team, who are not allowed to try and take it away from him before booting it upfield.

The fans love him for it. And Durkin has these fits, see, because if Aldo makes a mistake New Paltz is going to give up a goal.

With about four minutes remaining in the third period, Mbadinju converted his own rebound to put the Hawk lead back at three, and as the fourth period began Durkin began to filter in his substitutes.

The weaker play of the Hawk spares seemed to have a deleterious effect on the Warriors as well, but in the closing minutes of the game they finally began to put things together.

With 18:45 gone, Ed Ludwig caught the angle on a high twisting corner kick from Hess and headed the ball past Forte. A minute later Hess took a perfect cross from John Thatcher and used his head in a similar fashion.

Then Durkin reinserted his regulars and ran out the clock. And breathed a very hoarse sign of relief.

Boo's, Buster's
Win in Touch Football

SAUGERTIES — The second week of play in the Saugerties Athletic Association sponsored Touch Football League produced two shutouts and two squeakers.

The Panthers blanked the McConkey Funeral Home 14-0, Buster's drubbed Ted's Esso 20-0, Campbell's put on a dramatic goal line stand to edge the South Side Hotel 19-12 and Boo's Tavern upset A. J. Scarselli's 13-6.

Team Effort Key To Sawyer Wins

SAUGERTIES — Week after week the most impressive thing about the Saugerties High School football squad is the way it performs as a team.

It has its standout performers, and so do most other teams. But standout performers aren't enough to consistently win ball games, and Sawyer coach Fred Seither has built a ball club that is very, very solid.

And it's going to have to be solid to stand up to Poughkeepsie this Saturday. The Pioneers may be the biggest team Saugerties will face all year. Their mammoth running game will present a challenge that the Sawyer defensive line will have to stand up to—as a team.

Setbacks Bill Green and Nigel Davis are both capable, and indeed both have produced 200-yard games. Davis, a 190-pound six-footer, and Green, who stands five-eight and weighs 180, both run with power. On defense, in addition to Davis and Green, the Pioneers have a line that averages almost 200 pounds.

And Saugerties is the only team that stands between Poughkeepsie and the Dutchess County Scholastic League flag.

"We haven't really decided what we're going to do yet," Seither said yesterday, "but its probably not going to be anything different than what we've been doing all year. er, and Green runs exceptionally well to the outside. We're just going to try to execute better."

The few changes that Seither will make are on defense, and all of them involve Green and/or Davis. "We can't really have just one line backer keying on Green," he said, "because he'll sweep both ends."

The Pioneers also work Green on the screen pass and the halfback option, but the senior speedster does most of his damage on the ground and on the ground is where the Sawyers are going to have to stop him.

The Saugerties defense, which rotates only to a deep three for pass coverage is designed to be most effective against a ground game, and for the most part its what Seither is going to be depending on to do the job.

"We've got to stop the run," he said, "and its going to take a strong team effort."

At least he has a strong team to work with.

In other DCSL action, Beacon High School is at Roy C. Ketcham, Arlington is at Roosevelt, and Cardinal Farley Military Academy is at Our Lady of Lourdes.—Dennis R. Caro

UCAL Race Tightens; Rondout, Liberty Clash

Although the Ulster County Athletic League's regular season is only weeks old this Saturday, the eventual champion is expected to be decided when Rondout Valley hosts powerful Liberty.

The Indians gained over 300 yards on the ground in both of their previous league games, shutting out New Paltz in the opener and allowing Highland to score only a single touchdown, and that on a fumble recovery on the eleven yard line, last week.

Rondout is also undefeated in league play, shutting out Pine Bush last week but allowing Highland two touchdowns in their opener.

If Highland is any sort of a gauge, Liberty should be rated about a six point favorite, but both Indian victories came on their home turf and this one is in Gander country.

Marlboro, surprisingly enough, is also undefeated, and the Dukes travel to Marlboro as the only team that still has a shot at the league title behind sides Rondout and Liberty.

The Highlanders won't be the strongest team the Dukes have faced this year (they were decimated by Valley Central in their season opener) but Marlboro is by far the best chance that Highland has had to show up on the plus side of the scoreboard.

Len Atkins' squad is still looking for its first win, but the three tries it has had so far have been against Saugerties, Rondout and Liberty.

Pine Bush hosts New Paltz in the third UCAL game, and both squads are looking for win number one in league play.

The Bushmen, off the strength of their opening non-league upset of Minisink Valley, were rated to finish well in the regular season race. The Huguenots, who racked up their first points of the year against Marlboro last week, were not rated to go anywhere.

In independent action, Ellenville journeys to Callicoon for a game with Delaware Valley. The Blue Devils, who have only a tie with Jeffersonville to show for the season thus far, are looking for their first win and Delaware is one of the weak schools in the Western Sullivan League this year.

MHS JV's Win 19-12; KHS Team Improved

Kingston High's JV squad showed improvement in losing to Middletown yesterday 19-12 as they ran for 14 first downs to Middletown's seven but were unable to hold the Middies in the second half.

George Geanuleas put Kingston ahead in the first quarter on an 80 yard punt return. In the second period Mark Snyder went two yards off tackle to put the junior Maroons ahead 12-0.

Early in the third period Pete Donley of the Middies capped a 59 yard drive scoring from the two. Then a few plays later, Middletown's Terry Goble intercepted a Kingston screen pass and went 60 yards for a touchdown. The extra point made it 13-12 in favor of Middletown.

The Middies put the game out of reach in the fourth period as Mike Duzeminski carried over from the 10 yard line.

Kingston rushed for 219 yards compared to Middletown's 175 as the Middies added 40 yards in the air to Kingston's 30.

Score by Periods
Middletown 0 0 13 6-19
Kingston 6 6 0 0-12

Maroon Soccer Squad Downs Fallsburg, 2-0

Two second half goals, one by Harry Wyncoop and the other by Fred Seeger sparked the Kingston High School soccer squad to a 2-0 DUSO league victory over visiting Fallsburg yesterday.

With a little more than nine minutes gone in the third period, Scotty Phillips slammed a shot off the leg of a Fallsburg defender, Seeger picked up the rebound and pushed the ball past goalie Tom Devone, for the only goal Kingston was going to need.

The insurance tally came with 3:57 gone in the final frame when Devone dropped a Seeger shot and Wyncoop ran it into the nets.

KWBA to Hold 3rd Hall Dinner

The Kingston Woman's Bowling Association will hold its third annual Hall of Fame dinner on Saturday, Oct. 19 at 7:00 p. m., at the Gov. Clinton Hotel.

Four deceased KWBA members will be named to the Roll of Honor: Cora Emerick, Kay Robertson, and Marge Trowbridge, for distinguished service to the association and Bev. Port for outstanding bowling achievement.

One KWBA member will be named for distinguished service to the association and one for outstanding bowling achievement. These names will be announced at the dinner.

To date, three Kingston Woman's Association members have been named to each category: Distinguished service—Evelyn Dolson, Reta Frederick and Emma Kubick. Outstanding Bowling Achievement—Rose Schatzel, Evelyn Gross and Dot Rawding.

Tickets are available from Ethel Howard, Chris Wilson, Betty Phillips, Nell Glennon or any KWBA officer or director.

Reds Abandon Plans to Oust Dubcek, Aides

LONDON (UPI)—The Kremlin has abandoned plans to pressure for the ouster of Alexander Dubcek and his close associates from the Czechoslovak leadership, high Communist diplomats said today.

Instead the Russians hope to secure their aims in Czechoslovakia by extending their stay in the country and gradually tightening their grip on the nation's key institutions.

This emerged clearly today in talks with the Communist diplomats, well qualified to reflect Soviet policy.

The Kremlin leadership has resigned itself to accepting Dubcek and dealing with him, in the face of the nation's determined support for the Communist party first secretary and his aides.

But there is not much love lost between the Soviet leaders and the Dubcek regime. Moscow clearly remains suspicious of it and its ability to carry out Russian demands.

The Soviet view evidently is that the nation is still riddled with "counter revolutionaries," by which they mean Czechoslovaks who do not go along with Moscow and resent or oppose outright its intervention.

The diplomats let it be clearly understood that Moscow has therefore made no specific commitment as to the timetable of the withdrawal of the bulk of Soviet forces.

Moscow it appears holds it must first be sure that Czechoslovakia is firmly anchored again in the bloc alignment and adheres to the broad outlines of the Moscow-prescribed brand of communism including a friendly press, and foreign and economic policy closely aligned with the bloc.

NEW SOVIET VESSEL — Vice Admiral Turner F. Caldwell disclosed in a news conference that the Navy had sighted a new Soviet Navy vessel, the Moscow, operating in the Black Sea "within the past six months." He described it as a "true multipurpose ship," having missile launchers, a complex electronics system and a flat deck sized to handle antisubmarine helicopters and VSTOL aircraft. (OFFICIAL U. S. NAVY PHOTO VIA UPI TELEPHOTO.)

7 Buildings Are Destroyed By Upstate Fire

FORT PLAIN, N.Y. (AP) — A general alarm fire roared through this Mohawk Valley village of 3,000 persons Wednesday night, destroying seven buildings in the heart of the downtown district.

"It's almost impossible to tell how much damage has been done," Mayor Richard Jackland said.

Jackland said the buildings, which housed a total of 11 businesses, all were a complete loss and would have to be torn down.

Ten and Twenty Years Ago

Oct. 10, 1948 — Announcement was made of the appointment of Dr. B.W. Gifford and Dr. Lester Sonking as medical advisors to the Draft Board for the Saugerties area.

A Kingston resident reported to police that a football had been taken from his car while it was parked on side street off Broadway. The ball, valued at $10, had just been repaired by a local shoemaker, he said.

Oct. 10, 1958 — Kingston Mayor Edwin F. Padel issued a brief statement urging residents to pay their respects for the late Pope Pius XII during the state of mourning.

Kingston Police were quick to catch a young man in a car that had been reported stolen a few minutes before in the city. They also gained information on other criminal activities of the young man.

Shuffle in Beirut
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — President Charles Helou has accepted the resignation of Premier Abdullah Yafi's eight-month-old government.

The move came during the Cabinet's regular weekly meeting Wednesday to discuss Yafi's dispute with Justice Minister Suleiman Frangieh over a reshuffle in the judicial corps.

Assign Curran To Defendant

In the case of Wayne J. Rydzewski, 23 of Tilton, indicted Sept. 27 by the grand jury, in county court Wednesday, the court assigned William P. Curran for the defense due to the withdrawal of William C. Baron, who claimed conflict of interest as he is defending the co-defendant.

Rydzewski and Robert A. Fedorshenko, 17 of Accord are charged in the indictment with unauthorized use of a vehicle; burglary first degree; grand larceny third; assault second, two counts and forgery, third.

The two are charged in the alleged assault and robbery of John Speeches, 49 of Stone Ridge on July 13. According to state police the man was beaten over the head and robbed of his wristwatch, a wallet containing about $100, and his 1967 car.

Summon Motorists
Two motorists were summoned by Kingston Police to appear before City Judge Hubert A. Richter on two vehicle and traffic counts.

Norman A. Brown, 23, of Richmond, Va., was cited Wednesday for speeding and failure to produce a registration certificate. Emil I. Schutis, 34, of 159 Hunter Street, was summoned on charges of passing a flashing red light and operating a car with unsafe tires early today.

Dear Abby

Faces Guilt by Confessing

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(Copyright 1968 by Chicago Tribune
N.Y. Times Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: What is wrong with a wonderful, extremely well educated, good looking woman of 40 who becomes engaged, then proceeds to tell ME, her future husband, all about her previous love affairs in detail?

The next surprise she handed me was that although she is "in love" with me, she has not been able to discard a collection of pictures of her ex-boyfriends, and when I insisted that she throw them away she suggested breaking our engagement.

All of this was done with the full permission and approval of her psychiatrist who felt it would be "good" for her to tell me whatever came into her mind.

FINISHED AND DISGUSTED

DEAR FINISHED: Surely you must realize that the woman is in therapy and is attempting to face her problems squarely in an effort to resolve them. Her confessions were not very pretty, I agree, but her past adventures were probably causing her to feel guilty and unworthy, hence the truth session. If she is truly "wonderful," have a talk with her doctor for a better understanding of the situation.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been married for 14 years. She quit working when we got married because we had a family soon after. Now that the children are in school she's taken a part-time job. This is what bothers me. In the past all our money was placed into a joint account for both of us.

Now that she's working, she puts her earnings into a separate account for herself. She says she wants a "nest egg." Why should a wife need a nest egg? I don't have any such separate funds. Maybe you can understand a woman's reasoning. It eludes me.

DON'T GET IT

DEAR DON'T: Don't assume that because a wife wants a "nest egg" she is going to fly the coop. Those nest eggs which frugal wives stash away in sugar bowls are usually used to buy gifts for husbands and kids.

DEAR ABBY: I would like your opinion which I respect highly. I have been going steady with a boy for two years. Ira is 20 and I am 17. My parents have a summer home at the shore, and on weekends Ira has been our houseguest.

One day after playing ball Ira asked me to wash his socks out. It is true, he was my guest, but I think that a 20-year-old intelligent boy should be able to wash his own socks out.

I told him "no," and we didn't have an argument or anything like that, but a few weeks later his parents brought it up to me in jest.

Was I wrong not to have washed his socks out?

IRA'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: No, Ira needs a lesson in manners, and if he doesn't know how to launder his socks, it's time he pulled em up and learned.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BARBARA, WHOSE HUSBAND TICKLES THE BOTTOM OF HER FEET UNTIL SHE'S IN TEARS: If I were in YOUR shoes, I'd keep 'em on. (Yes, in bed, too.)

Horoscope By SYDNEY OMARR It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR Friday October 11, 1968

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Overcome confusing loyalty with foolish reluctance to make change. Some methods are outmoded. Know this — and welcome the new. You may have to meditate dispute between relatives.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Impulse buying could put dent in budget. Recall resolutions made concerning money matters. Get what you need. Draw line between desire and extravagance. You get nothing for nothing. Be realistic.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You get action in area which had been dormant. Get versatile; display adaptability. Some at home appear argumentative. This is but temporary. Don't be upset by one who is impatient.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You may be drawn in two directions at once. Key is to handle basic details. The big things will take care of themselves. Much of importance occurs behind the scenes. Accent steady pace.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Suggestion from friend could lead to ultimate profit. Be perceptive. If analytical, you find answers. Accent on hopes, fulfillments of financial needs. Change apt to prove beneficial.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Avoid excess speed. Check directions. Special assignment can be successfully completed. But be aware of credits, debits. Seek greater harmony with family members, work associates.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Individual who had been non-committal makes known his views. This can work out in your favor. But see situation in realistic light. If you demand facts, you get them. No wishful thinking.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Obtain hint from LIBRA message. Get correct view of financial situation. Promises are fine, but insist on results. One who advises you on investing may not be completely informed.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Results come through unorthodox methods. Means those you depended upon in past may not live up to potential. But those who come forth with unusual procedures aid your cause.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Strive for greater self-reliance. In so doing you actually will attract those in a position to help fulfill goals. Means positive action, attitude is winning ticket today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Tendency today is to want too much, too soon. Pull in the reins. Be sensible enough to listen to valid suggestions. There are changes, but it is not necessary to rush them. Take your time.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Steer clear of disputes. You could become involved with one inclined toward violence. Your great ally can be a sense of humor. Cement family relations. Key is greater harmony at home.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY — you have completed a project which could bring greater recognition. Now get ready for new tasks which bring contact with exciting persons.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Friction indicated between persons, groups which were allies. (To find out who's lucky for you in money and love, order Sydney Omarr's booklet, "Secret Hints for Men and Women." South's jump to four hearts announced a minimum opening bid with very good trumps. In other words, it said, "Partner, my hand calls for play in hearts. If you have enough high cards to go along with my good trumps, we have a slam; otherwise we belong in game only."

North might have simply jumped to the heart slam but North decided to make some effort to get to seven. Hence his bids of four and five trump. South had told his story and settled for the small slam. South looked over dummy carefully and counted his winners. There were just 11 of them. He could get a 12th easily by taking the double finesse in clubs or he could get the 12th by setting up dummy's fifth spade. The odds that West would hold at least one of the club honors were 3 to 1 in South's favor; the odds that spades would divide 4-3 only about 8-to-5, so that if only one play could be used, it was up to South to try the club finesse.

On the other hand there was a way for South to try both plays. He started by winning the diamond in dummy. Then he entered his hand with the queen of trumps. Next came a spade to the ace and the ruff of a spade. Back to dummy with the king of trumps and the ruff of another low spade.

When both opponents followed to that spade lead, South drew the last trump and showed his hand, conceding a club.

It was just as well that he gave himself that extra chance. The spades did break but both club honors were wrong.

Monday Lineup Powerhouse

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The season's first national television ratings in which the three networks' new shows competed head-on indicates CBS-TV's Monday lineup is still video's top powerhouse.

That lineup consists of "Gunsmoke," Lucille Ball, "Mayberry R.F.D.," "Family Affair" and Carol Burnett.

Covered by the national rankings is the week of Sept. 23-29, in which NBC-TV was broadcasting its second episodes, and CBS-TV and ABC-TV were offering premieres.

And although the ratings for the following week—in which there were no premieres—will perhaps be more indicative of viewer reaction, there seems little doubt CBS-TV's Monday series have held rather firmly against NBC-TV's attempt to unseat them nationally.

Improve Monday Lineup

There is no question that NBC-TV's new Monday lineup—"I Dream of Jeannie," "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In" and a movie—is doing much better than the network's original series of last season. And some observers feel this will help NBC-TV greatly in its effort to unseat CBS-TV as the perennial ratings leader.

But Monday on CBS-TV is still that network's cornerstone of ratings success. The top three shows in the national ranking were "Mayberry R.F.D.," Miss Ball's series and "Family Affair." Whether "Mayberry R.F.D." holds up is the only question. It is the successor to Andy Griffith's show, and since his fictional marriage was featured on the debut, it certainly accounted for the episode's great success.

Miss Burnett's series, meanwhile, finished in a tie for seventh and "Gunsmoke" was 20th. Every one of CBS-TV's Monday series finished in the top 20, a spectacular showing—and consistent with last season.

The Vietnam Coup Is Denied But Planners Are Arrested

By DANIEL SOUTHERLAND
SAIGON (UPI) — President Nguyen Van Thieu today denied his South Vietnamese troops had thwarted a coup and at the same time arrested antigovernment civilians and military commanders who planned it. In his first public declaration since he put his troops on full alert around Saigon Tuesday, Thieu blamed Communists and "uninformed people" for spreading coup rumors. His communique completely reversed an Information Ministry statement earlier in the day which said the troop alert had blunted a coup and that several military and civilian leaders had been seized.

"There have been many false rumors spread by the Communists and uninformed people," the communique said.

Denies Coup Attempt
"These rumors said (1) that the Republic of Vietnam troops are on alert to defend against an upheaval and (2) that a number of people have been arrested."

"The president's office wants to make this clear: That all military matters being applied are very normal."

"So far, there have been no general and military officers or members of the former Can Lao party arrested."

The Can Lao was the party of dictator Ngo Dinh Diem. The general who led a coup overthrowing Diem in 1963, Gen. Quang Van "Big" Minh, returned to Saigon Saturday from four years in exile. Thieu invited him back and asked him to be a presidential adviser.

Thieu's statement said he would go on nationwide television tonight to explain "these groundless rumors." His communique was released as he met with government officials in the independence Palace under heavy guard.

The Information Ministry communique issued four hours earlier said "Authorities have uncovered a plot to overthrow the government and have put into effect a number of appropriate measures to maintain security and order." A spokesman announced the arrests separately and said he had no other details.

Planned for Tuesday
The communique said the coup had been planned for Tuesday night and it "very likely originated certain elements so much that they carried out the activity."

Ministry officials later withdrew the communique.

However, South Vietnamese troops manned two anti-aircraft guns on the roof of the palace. Jeeps of police tightened the guard around the building and armored cars moved in to guard its rear flanks.

The alert canceled all military leaves and kept soldiers in their barracks while off duty. The citizens appeared calm, free of the tensions that marked coups in the past.

Some veteran observers said the president may have used the coup threat as a pretext for a crackdown on dissident military and civilian factions.

Marines Repulse Beret Attackers

By ALVIN B. WEBB Jr.
SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Marines threw back two North Vietnamese ground attacks and fought an artillery duel with guerrilla gunners still lurking around the Green Berets at Thuong Duc, military headquarters said today.

Battlefield reports said the three clashes cost the Communists 64 men killed and indicated the North Vietnamese still might have designs on capturing the northern Special Forces outpost. Total Leatherneck losses were one killed, 13 wounded.

Thuong Duc, guarding a vital valley approach to Da Nang, weathered a nine-day Communist siege that broke off Monday with 8,000 guerrillas appearing to pull back into the jungled mountains.

But the North Vietnamese swarmed out of the jungle twice Wednesday and tried overrunning U.S. Marines guarding the camp's outskirts.

Men of the 5th Marine

Regiment fought back with tanks, artillery and dive bombers and killed 17 North Vietnamese soldiers against four Leathernecks wounded, headquarters said.

UPI correspondent Nat Gibson said hundreds of other guerrillas pounced on 300 Marines camped for the night four miles east of Thuong Duc. Spokesmen said they inflicted "light" Marine losses and withdrew, leaving three bodies behind.

In Saigon today U.S. spokesmen announced that fewer Americans were killed last week than in any week of the Vietnam War in two months.

They said 190 American servicemen died in combat last week. It was the lowest seven-day toll since the week ending Aug. 17 when 159 American servicemen were killed.

Another 1,326 Americans were wounded in action last week, the lowest figure in six weeks. The casualty figures reflected a recent relative lull in ground combat in many sections of the country.

Optimism in Paris

Package Deal at Vietnam Talks?

PARIS (AP) — Some U.S. officials say privately an early breakthrough toward a Vietnam peace still is possible despite the deadlocked talks here on ending the war.

Their optimism has them to the point of discussing the idea of a package deal in which conflicting American and North Vietnamese terms for a bomb halt would be reconciled.

Arguments advanced by informants who say a breakthrough still is on the cards emerged after the 25th session of the conference Wednesday.

Taken together these arguments suggest the North Vietnamese, for the first time, are revealing a readiness to yield some ground.

The first argument: — Hanoi regards with some dismay the prospect of Richard M. Nixon being elected President Nov. 5. This, according to sources, appears to be the only conclusion to be drawn from North Vietnamese Ambassador Xuan Thuy's statement that "President Johnson... still has enough time and power" to open the way to peace by ordering a halt now to the bombing of North Vietnam.

The second argument: — Hanoi is being hurt militarily under the combined pressure of the Mediterranean and

Rhodesia Retains One Principle: Domination of Blacks By Whites

In the nearly three years since the break-away government of Premier Ian Smith declared Rhodesia's independence from Britain, it has stood steadfastly on one principle: Continued domination of Rhodesia's 4 million blacks by 250,000 whites.

In that same period Britain's Labor government, led by Prime Minister Harold Wilson, has been equally steadfast in its stand that it could not recognize Rhodesian independence except under a constitution providing eventually for majority black rule.

In between have been various steps to bring Rhodesia economic-ally to its knees, including a United Nations Security Council resolution last May imposing a total international embargo on all imports from and exports to Rhodesia.

None of this has changed. If anything, the lines have hardened.

On March 6, 1968, three Africans convicted of murder were hanged in Salisbury, Rhodesia, in defiance of the British Privy Council and an order from the queen commuting the sentences to life imprisonment.

The break with the British legal system seemed to make establishment of Rhodesia as an independent republic the next natural step.

The Gibraltar meeting between Smith and Wilson, therefore, would seem to be an unnecessary exercise in futility.

Yet there are other elements which could lead both sides to make one more try at agreement.

In December, 1966, Smith and Wilson met aboard the British cruiser Tiger off Gibraltar in the Mediterranean and reached tentative agreement on a six-point program of principles which could have led to eventual majority rule in Rhodesia.

It broke down under pressure from hard-lining right wingers in Smith's own Rhodesian Front party.

Since then there have been other developments.

A proposed new Rhodesian constitution has rejected apartheid, strict segregation of the races, and declared that Rhodesia's future lies in a non-racial state.

Smith no longer is dependent upon the extreme right wing for
